WAS NIGHT OF TENSE ANXIETY

Conditions Governing International Races

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Shamrock III. was remeasured today, the result showing that Reliance will have to give her one minute and 59 seconds time allowance.

The first race will be 15 nautical miles to windward or leeward and return, depending on the direction of the wind. After that each alternate race will be over a triangular course, 10 miles to the leg. The next race will be sailed on Saturday, and the third next Tuesday; and thereafter every other day until the series is completed. The winner of three out of five will be the victor. If the course is not covered within the time allowance, five and one-half hours, it is no race.

The weather predictions for tomorrow is a breeze of from three to nine knots. A seven-knot breeze will be necessary to carry the boats over the course in the allotted time.

The wind at Sandy Hook at midnight was south southeast, eight miles an hour; weather cloudy. A moderate sea was running.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

New York, Aug. 19.—For the first time the challenger and defender today sailed in company off Sandy Hook when both boats were taken out for final trial spins. Except when passing, going in opposite directions, the two yachts were never nearer than three miles to each other, so that there was no opportunity to compare them, although some observers thought that Shamrock III. heeled a little more and seemed to carry a larger stern wave.

The Reliance was first to get away from her moorings within the horseshoe and passed out by the point of the Hook at 10 a.m. There was a fine 10-knot breeze from south southeast and sailing close hauled, she went out through the main ship channel and Gedney's channel to the Sandy Hook lightship, about eight miles, at a fast pace.

Shamrock III. left Sandy Hook 15 minutes later and followed the defender out through the channel to the lightship. Both yachts carried all lower sails and club topsails. The Reliance turned at the lightship and ran back toward the channel, meeting Shamrock III. on the way out. The two yachts passed each other at a distance of a mile. Shamrock III. proceeded as far as the lightship, hove to and awaited the arrival of the Oceanic, bound in, and then followed the big liner under mainsail and jib.

Reliance Returns First.

The Earl and Countess of Shaftesbury, the latter of whom was sponsor for Shamrock III. at her launching, were on board the Oceanic, and as the big steamer passed the crew of the Shamrock cheered the countess. Both of the yachts returned to their moorings at Sandy Hook after having been absent an hour and a quarter, the Reliance reaching hers about 15 minutes in advance of the Shamrock. For the remainder of the day both boats swung to their moorings, while their crews overhauled their sails and got everything in readiness for the race.

During the afternoon and evening the steam yachts gathered in the Horseshoe to follow the racers when they leave for the starting line tomorrow and late tonight there was a good sized fleet at anchor there.

Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin came up the harbor in the afternoon to receive the Earl and Countess of Shaftsbury and others of Sir Thomas Lipton's guests from the Oceanic, after which she returned to Sandy Hook with Sir Thomas and the party on board and lay there during the night. C. Oliver Iselin, the managing member of the Reliance syndicate and his advisers, passed the night on board the Reliance tender Sunbeam at anchor near the Reliance.

Odds on the Reliance.

Despite the big time allowance which the defender must concede to the challenger the friends of the Reliance are extremely confident that Sir Thomas is again doomed to defeat and the confidence in the American boat is reflected in the betting, where the odds are two to one on the Reliance. The friends of the British boat, on the other hand, profess the greatest faith in the ability of Fife's latest creation to "lift the cup."

In neither of his previous attempts to carry off the precious "mug" did Sir Thomas sail on the challenger. Tonight he was in doubt whether to sail in the challenger tomorrow. His friends on the Erin urged him not to do so for fear of an accident.

PITTSBURGHER HEADS BIG COLORADO CONCERN

Frank J. Hearne, Backed by Gould and Rockefeller, Will Rejuvenate Fuel and Iron Company.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DENVER, Aug. 19.—Frank J. Hearne of Pittsburgh is to have absolute control of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. He was elected a director at the annual meeting of the company today and it was unofficially announced that at the meeting of the board in New York two weeks hence to organize, he will be formally placed at the head of the corporation as chairman of the board of directors and president of the company.

This is a departure from the former policy which made two distinct offices. As chairman of the board he will control the financing in New York; as president he will be the head of the business in the west. Mr. Hearne does not care to discuss his plans, but his friends say that he will surround himself with a corps of the ablest steel experts of Pittsburgh and bring the western corporation to the front on an equality with the industries of Pennsylvania.

At the organization meeting of the directors steps will be taken to finance the big undertakings for which the company did not have the cash and which resulted in the Rockefeller-Gould interests securing control. Approximately a million dollars will be needed and the capital will be furnished as Mr. Hearne finds necessary. Pittsburgh is fully represented on the board of directors, which is composed as follows: Frank J. Hearne, Pittsburgh; E. W. Oglebay, Wheeling; George J. Gould, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Fred T. Gates, E. H. Harriman, Edwin Hawley, Ben Nicoll, John H. McClement, James H. Hyde, E. Parmelee Prentice, John C. Osgood, Denver; Julian A. Kebler, Denver.

Considerable surprise was caused by the election of Mr. Osgood, the founder of the company, to his old place on the board, which he surrendered when he resigned as chairman of the board when the Rockefeller-Gould syndicate took charge. Mr. Osgood will continue actively with the company, being head of several of the subsidiary companies. Mr. Kebler retired as president and will go to Europe.

Mr. Rockefeller this evening gave out a statement that he would devote himself to developing the interests of the company. He declined to say anything about the report of consolidation with the National Steel Company, adding that his management of the Colorado concern would show that he was not interested in weakening one of the greatest industries of Colorado. He further explained that the plans laid down for the improvements at Pueblo would be carried out even in greater magnitude than had been planned.

SLEUTH IS SHACKLED AND ROBBED BY HIS PRISONER

Daring Escape of a Thief Who Was Handcuffed by Detective for Safe Keeping.

CHEYENNE, WYO., Aug. 19.—Albert Ecklund, alias George Johnson, who was captured at Rawlins and was being taken back to Chicago to answer to the charge of grand larceny, effected a remarkable escape from Detective William Marsden. Marsden left Rawlins last night with Ecklund, and to make sure of his man shackled him to a seat in the smoking compartment of a chair car.

While Marsden was sleeping beside his prisoner Ecklund went through the detective's pockets, secured the keys to the shackles, released himself and then shackled the officer to the steam pipes. Having relieved the officer of his weapons and other property, Ecklund left the train at Laramie. Marsden was not awakened by the conductor until Cheyenne was reached, when he called for assistance. As Marsden had absolutely nothing on his person to prove that he was not a prisoner the trainmen would not release him.

The railroad authorities telegraphed to Chicago for instructions, and when the train reached Sydney Marsden was finally released from his predicament. To night he passed through Cheyenne en route to Laramie to try to effect the recapture of his prisoner.

THIEVES PUT PLUNDER IN PLACE OF SAFETY

Hired Safety Deposit Box for Booty Stolen from Trust Company Officer.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Harry Mozzer is one of the most prudent thieves ever placed under arrest. He and his "pal" robbed the residence of Treasurer West of the Union Trust Company and then hired a safety deposit box and hid their booty. He was in the awenthow when he admitted that he had hired the box.

Mr. West was very busy for some time thereafter, and it was not until he had satisfied himself that the thieves had not utilized his own safe deposit vaults in the Union Trust Company as a hiding place for the goods stolen from the West home, that he recovered his composure.

CHILD'S BODY IN A TIN BOX

Had Bullet in Heart and Blood-Stained Rags Were Around It.

PARENTS ARE IN JAIL

Placed Corpse in Baggage Car on Way to Dravosburg—Arrested at McKeesport.

EXPLANATION OF THE COUPLE

Detected in the act of transporting on a railroad train the dead body of their five-year-old child, with a bullet hole in its breast, Isaac Jubiller and wife, a Jewish couple of Tucker, Fayette county, were arrested and locked up in McKeesport last evening. The case is under investigation and the coroner of Fayette county will look into the matter today. Although Jubiller and his wife are in jail at McKeesport, Coroner Jesse M. McCleary of this county will not do anything in the matter, as the child received its fatal wound in Fayette county. The body of the child is at Hunter's undertaking establishment at McKeesport.

The parents say that the child came to its death by the accidental discharge of a revolver, and that they feared to tell anyone of the matter and were on their way to the home of relatives at Dravosburg to conduct a quiet burial when arrested.

The actions of a man and woman aroused the suspicions of Baggagemaster M. B. McDonald when they got on train No. 19 on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad at Walterburg at 4:56 yesterday afternoon. The couple had a tin box that had once been used by a coffee firm. The box was two feet high and 12 inches wide. The couple had the can placed in the baggage coach and said they would get it at Dravosburg, their destination. They took seats in one of the passenger cars.

After the train left California the baggagemaster determined to open the box. He found packed tightly in the can the blood-stained body of a 5-year-old boy. The little corpse was wrapped in the blood-soaked folds of a woman's dress. The only mark on the body was a bullet hole in the breast, probably the cause of death. The body was cold when discovered.

When Monongahela power house was reached, Mr. McDonald notified the conductor of the train. They informed Operator Staley to the power house. Staley telegraphed to the train dispatcher and received instructions that Conductor Howard Shenck watch the couple and prevent any attempt to leave the train. Staley also telegraphed the police at Dravosburg to meet the train on its arrival.

The Jubillers were told that their baggage had been inspected. They showed alarm and said they were man and wife and lived at Tucker, a small village between Brownsville and Uniontown. The child, they admitted, was their own, and they said he had shot himself accidentally while handling his father's revolver, which he did not know was loaded. The couple had no hesitation in giving their names. The boy's name they said was Oscar.

In explanation of their strange action the parents stated that after the lad had accidentally shot himself, and they found him to be dead, they feared to tell anyone, and also feared to make interment in Tucker. They then boarded the train for Dravosburg, and intended taking the body to the house of relatives there for burial.

SUIT IS BROUGHT FOR HALF MILLION DOLLARS

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Suit for $500,000 damages was brought here today by Charles H. Williams of Lynchburg, Va., against John B. Hart, Charles M. Hart, Julia L. Hart, Lucy H. Wilson and Harry T. Wilson of Clarksburg and Jacob J. Holloway and Daniel C. List of Wheeling. Williams claims that he purchased from the defendants about 15,000 acres of timber land in Randolph and Upshur counties, together with sawmills. He alleges that he sold the property to the Randolph Coal and Lumber Company for $1,000,000, but that when payment was due the Randolph Coal and Lumber Company was given the title at $500,000.

INTERPRETATION OF SIGNALS FROM THE COMMITTEE BOAT

(Special Telegraph to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Following are the rules governing the yacht races and the excursion fleet.

Start will be made from Sandy Hook lightship as near 11 o'clock as practicable, the preparatory signal being given 15 minutes in advance. If the wind prevents laying the course from the lightship, the starting line will be shifted to the nearest available point. In this case the preparatory signal will be given about half an hour later.

Start and finish lines will be between a point on the committee boat indicated by a white flag and the mainmast of the lightship or other stake boat if the start is shifted from the lightship. These lines will be at right angles with the course in each case. Marks will be white floats carrying a red ball with horizontal white stripe showing letters N. Y. Y. C. in blue and surmounted by a flash cone. The position of each mark will be indicated by a two-masted vessel about 100 yards beyond and swinging a red ball from its tristic stay.

Preparatory signal—A gun will be fired, the club signal lowered, and a blue peter cone hoisted. Ten minutes later a second gun will be fired, the blue peter cone lowered and a second red ball hoisted.

Two minutes later a third gun will be fired and both balls will drop. Should a signal gun miss fire a prolonged blast of the whistle will be given as each vessel crosses the line. The committee boat, the Navigator, will display the committee flag, and at the close will also show a red ball. The courses will be laid by the John H. Scully. The Constwise will be the guide vessel, and in running the course she will show two red balls hung horizontally on the fore.

The revenue cutters will keep the course clear from all vessels.

ITALY TO SEND SQUADRON

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Sofia, Aug. 19.—Reports from Monastir say 200 women who have arrived there from the Bulgarian village of Rakovo have presented petitions to the Russian and Austrian consuls and to Hilmi Pasha, the inspector general, setting forth that their village has been burned and that all the males of the population have been massacred.

Fifteen villages in the district of Okrida, three in the district of Lerin and three in the district of Resen have been destroyed.

Further details of the fighting at Krushevo show that the insurgents retired to a point in the vicinity of the town after losing 60 men killed and 12 wounded. The Turkish loss was 250 killed or wounded. A band of 70 insurgents near Kojla, in the vilayet of Uskub, fought a detachment of Turks all day.

Nine of the insurgents were killed. The Turkish losses are not known. On the following day a party of Bashi-Bazouks entered the village and slaughtered all the inhabitants. Severe fighting is reported to have occurred near Vetavska. The result is not known.

Another bomb outrage is reported to have occurred at Philippopolis. A bomb was thrown into the house of a merchant there and three persons were killed.

Killed Thirty Rebels.

SALONICA, Aug. 19.—A revolutionary band engaged a force of Turkish troops yesterday at Kallar. Thirty of the revolutionists were killed and the troops are pursuing the remainder of the band.

The Turkish troops on entering Krushevo terribly maltreated the inhabitants. About 150 Greeks and others including 60 children were marched as prisoners to Monastir. Five of them died on the way.

ROME, Aug. 19.—Italy, it was announced today, has decided to act in accord with the other powers in the Balkan situation. An Italian squadron had been ordered to Macedonian waters to "watch events." No explanation is given of the reasons underlying the orders.

No other power is in a better position than Italy to quickly send a fleet to Turkey. In fact Italy may almost be considered as already having a warship on the spot, as the torpedo boat destroyer Minerva is off the island of Lemnos in the Aegean sea, a few hours' steaming from Saloniki, and the battleship Re Umberto, which is at Augusta, Sicily, can reach Ottoman waters in about 40 hours. The Italian Mediterranean squadron, now off Cagliari, island of Sardinia, has been

MANY REUNIONS ARE HELD

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Ten thousand survivors of the civil war passed in review today, marching to the martial tunes that inspired them to endeavor 40 years ago. Above the national colors borne by every marcher proudly floated torn and tattered flags. These, with empty sleeves and limping gait, were eloquent reminders of the sorrow and glory of war.

Unlike the parade of yesterday, with the quick marching line of youth, this procession was the measured and steady tread of age. As the different divisions marched along waves of sentiment passed over marchers and spectators. There were many still vigorous in line, but they waited for their weaker comrades and the column halted often on its two-mile course.

In the long line were men from every corner of the nation. Of all the states, California excepted, the one that had the largest number in line was Illinois, but Ohio was a close second. Almost every delegation had its emblem.—Ohio its buckeye, Connecticut a wooden nutmeg, Minnesota a loaf of bread, and so on indefinitely. There was something distinctive in each group. The men from Vermont, "the Green Mountain state" bore a line of seven green banners, each containing a letter, the whole spelling the name of the state.

One thousand men marched under the yellow banner of Illinois. At the head marched Col. Thomas G. Lawler, past commander-in-chief of the Grand Army. The Wisconsin division was led by Gen. Arthur MacArthur in civilian clothes. Pennsylvania headed the second division. Here and there in the line appeared a Bucktail, indicating the presence of a survivor of the famous First Pennsylvania rifles, "The Bucktails."

The New York section followed Pennsylvania, led by John S. Koster. The afternoon was devoted largely to receptions and rounds a. The United States enlisted soldiers' organization met in Temple hall, but the attendance was unexpectedly small. After Comrade Story had explained the work done by the order to secure increased pensions for disabled veterans, an adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

A few survivors of the famous "Iron Brigade" of the army of the Potomac assembled in Pioneer hall, their stories being of a special character.

In the evening thousands attended a great and instrumental concert at Mechanics pavilion. General Nelson A. Miles was the guest of the Round-American War Veterans, and the Woman's Relief corps gave a reception to Commander-in-Chief Stewart.

FARMERS ARE FOR ROOSEVELT

New York Up-State Leader Says He Cannot Be Beaten.

ODELL NOT AS STRONG

PRESIDENT NOT FRIGHTENED

From a Staff Correspondent.
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Little Falls, N. Y., Aug. 19.—"There are no grounds for the prediction that President Roosevelt will not be able to carry his own state next year. Indications are all to the contrary, and I can find nothing in the situation that need give the friends of Roosevelt any anxiety."

This statement was made to The Gazette correspondent by the Hon. Titus Sheard, the man whose recent frank and outspoken interview has been knocked and twisted by Democratic papers to make him appear as discouraged at the outlook and hopeless as to Roosevelt's carrying New York state in 1904.

Mr. Sheard knows New York politics from top to bottom. In 1884 both he and President Roosevelt were members of the New York general assembly and Mr. Sheard beat the Oyster Bay man for speaker of the lower branch. But that was a mere incident of politics, and no ill feeling was engendered. They have been friends ever since and the fact that Mr. Sheard was recently invited to Oyster Bay to talk over the situation in New York state shows the high opinion of his judgment that the president holds. For years Mr. Sheard has watched the trend of New York politics and today after a careful consideration of conditions, he is sanguine of Roosevelt's victory in his own state and in the country at large.

How Mr. Sheard Figures.

"The means by which I arrive at my conclusions are these," said Mr. Sheard. "In the first place, Roosevelt will get a larger vote in the country districts than Odell did last year. He is strong up through the state and there is no denying that fact. Of course, Odell put himself in favor with the farmers to some extent by reducing taxes and by other means, but he also made many enemies, as was inevitable in the appointment of new boards of managers for public institutions, etc. And then there is always a larger vote polled in presidential elections than in gubernatorial contests. There are but a few of the reasons for concluding that Roosevelt's vote up through the state will be much larger than Odell's."

"Now, on the other hand, the Democratic candidate can hope to poll the vote in New York city that Coler did in 1902. Coler as a candidate for president could not do it. It was not a party vote or a personal vote. It represented Democrats, disgruntled Republicans and everybody else who was dissatisfied with Mayor Low's administration.

"In Greater New York Coler had 821,120 votes, a majority over Odell of 122,635. Not only would he be unable to poll such a vote again, but he can never stand for it to any one else, for the conditions that existed in 1902 will never be repeated. Thus with Roosevelt adding to Odell's vote in the country districts and cutting down Coler's vote in the city, he is assured of carrying the state by a handsome majority.

Plenty of Margin.

"But even suppose that he made up gains up through the state, still there will be sufficient reduction in the vote of New York city to give him a safe plurality. Upon the matter of a big reduction in the Democratic vote in Greater New York, my opinion is firmly formed. Republicans who last year were disappointed in the matter of Mayor Low's appointments or who for other reasons disapproved of his administration, stayed at home by the thousands on election day or went to the polls and voted for Coler, not because they indorsed him or his party, but to register their disapproval of existing affairs in New York. But when it comes to a presidential election where the highest office and the great policies are at stake, then it is a different matter. Men are not so likely to let resentment influence them in that case, but usually vote their party ticket."

"Is it true that you found the president frightened at the situation in this state?" was asked.

"No, he was not frightened," said Mr. Sheard, "but he was anxious to know my opinion on present conditions and the prospects. He invited me to Oyster Bay and we went over the New York political matters very thoroughly. As is quite natural, President Roosevelt is very anxious to carry his own state next year. I feel certain that he can be elected without it, so far as that is concerned, but I think there is no ground for doubt as to the result. Even feeling sure that his own state is not necessary to his election, yet it is a matter of personal pride with him, as it would be with any candidate, and he is much interested in the probable outcome in New York."

Wall Street Doesn't Count.

"What do you think the opposition of the Wall street interests will amount to?" Mr. Sheard was asked.

"Nothing at all," said he. "The New York city people to be the mouthpiece of the opposition, but the efforts of these newer attacks, if they are really backing any effort, will have passed away and been forgotten within the next year. I am not at all fearful of the results of the antagonism."

Mr. Sheard is the president of a large manufacturing company in Little Falls, and while he is not talking much to politics, but is devoting himself to business, he keeps in close touch with affairs and his experience on the political floor has made him considered no judge of conditions.

MAN IS IN JAIL; GIRL GOES FREE

Daniel J. Graham Meets Trouble in His Suit for Breach of Promise.

WAS ARRESTED IN ALLEGHENY

Miss Romer Testifies He Followed Her About Streets and Threatened to Kill Her If She Did Not Marry Him—Had No Ball.

Daniel J. Graham of No. 2704 Eugene street, Allegheny, who on Tuesday entered suit against Celia M. Romer of Marburg street, in common pleas court, asking $10,000 for breach of promise, is in the Allegheny county jail. Graham was taken there last evening from the office of Magistrate David McKelvey of Allegheny. The man was arrested on a warrant issued to Miss Romer who charges Graham with surety of the peace.

Graham's arrest came very unexpectedly to him. He had an officer out looking for Miss Romer, yesterday, for the purpose of having served on her papers for her arrest. While walking along the street yesterday, Miss Romer suddenly came face to face with the man who had entered suit in the courts against her for $10,000 damages. She tried to evade him, but according to her story she was pursued by her former lover who made ardent love to her in the street. When she refused to listen to him, she asserted he became abusive in his language and finally threatened to kill her.

The girl appeared at Central police station shortly after 4 o'clock and told her troubles to Capt. James Wilson. The latter took her to Magistrate McKelvey's office where information was made against Graham charging him with surety of the peace.

Graham had followed the girl to city hall and was in the office of the bureau of detectives making inquiries when he was arrested by Detective Leon Einstein and taken to McKelvy's office. He demanded an immediate hearing and got it with the result that he was sent to jail in default of $300 bail, for court.

Miss Romer testified that Graham had followed her about the streets and had refused to leave her. When she refused to talk to him he threatened to kill her unless she married him at once. Miss Romer refused to say anything last night regarding her former relations with Graham. She did not deny that she had known him and that he had given her a ring valued at $75 and $50 with which to buy a wedding trousseau.

Miss Romer had not been arrested last night although a warrant for her arrest is in the hands of a deputy sheriff.

READY FOR OPENING OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Supplies Distributed and Teachers Expect a Record-Breaking Attendance.

Arrangements have been completed for the opening of the public schools in Pittsburgh and Allegheny and the kindergartens for the fall term. In both cities a great increase in attendance is looked for, and despite the additional room provided during the summer vacation, the school buildings will be as badly crowded as when the school term closed in June. Pittsburgh teachers look for an attendance of nearly 50,000 pupils, and Prof. Edward Rynearson, director of the Pittsburgh High schools, looks for 1,950 pupils to present themselves for enrollment at the three High school buildings.

The Pittsburgh schools will open on Monday, August 31, the earliest they have ever opened for a school year. In Allegheny the schools will not open until September 1. On account of the early opening the teachers expect the schools will be organized more promptly, and the work of the fall term will start under more favorable conditions than in past years.

There will be many minor changes in system and the lists of teachers and new text books will be introduced. Under the direction of Secretary Charles Reisfar of the central board of education a force of men worked all summer shipping school supplies to the various school buildings. Besides the new Sterrett school building in the Twenty-second ward, which will be ready for occupancy about October, the new addition to the Colfax school in the same ward, has been completed.

When the schools closed last year there were 38,854 pupils in attendance. Of this number 20,036 were girls and 18,818 boys. The average attendance was 34,977. The schools will start with the same number of teachers as last year, 1,072, but as soon as the different classes are organized many school boards will ask for additional teachers.

Teachers and principals have been elected in every ward in the city with the exception of the Twenty-eighth, the board being still deadlocked over the election of a principal of the Birmingham school in South Fifteenth street.

GLASS MEN MEET.

Jobbers' Association Conferring in New York on Allotment.

Since breaking off negotiations several weeks ago with the largest producing companies of window glass, the Window Glass Jobbers association is trying to reopen a conference with the manufacturers relative to the placing of trade. It is claimed that one of the companies has sold a large allotment to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and the small jobbers have been compelled to purchase from the Pittsburgh company. The jobbers association wants to handle the business, and is trying to arrange accordingly at a meeting now being held in New York city.

DEMOCRATS PLAN A NEW PLATFORM

Individual Attacks Upon Republicans to Be Eliminated This Year.

THE LEGISLATURE THE MARK

New Scheme Said to Be Result of Col. Guffey, Who Is Now Arranging for a Round-Up of His Lieutenants Before the Convention.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.

The conference of Democratic leaders, to be held during the next few days to draft platform and slate a ticket for the state convention to ratify on September 2, will recommend that the new libel law shall not be made the dominant issue. Instead the Democrats will have that document devoted to a general arraignment of the last legislature. The libel law will be included, but only as one of a number of items which will be embraced in the platform and that particular feature will be held over for a more thorough exploitation when members of the next legislature shall be elected.

The platform which the leaders will hand over to the state convention for adoption will be radically different from the usual Democratic campaign document. The platform, it is said, will be a "sane, reasonable and mild charge that the Republican party as a party and not Republicans as individuals, is not competent to give reason to the affairs of the people."

The suggestion to have the platform arraign the work of the legislature as a whole and to attack the Republican party as a party and to steer clear of the usual charges of individual incompetency upon the part of the state officials, emanated from a source close to Col. Guffey, who is planning for a round-up of his lieutenants to talk over plans before going to Harrisburg.

All talk to the contrary notwithstanding, the state convention, which is now but two weeks off, will officially forget that there is a national Democratic party and thus ignore national questions and a possible indorsement of a candidate for president in 1904.

ordered to Sicily, so as to be nearer the scene of the trouble in Turkey.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—It was learned in official quarters today that the action of Russia in ordering a naval squadron to Turkish waters may be speedily followed by important joint naval action on the part of the powers. Communications are at present being exchanged between the powers relative to a joint naval demonstration before Salonica. The final determination will depend largely upon Russia, but if a joint demonstration is determined upon the fleets of France and Austria will certainly co-operate, and it is probable that the fleets of all the other European powers having Turkish interests, except possibly Germany, which throughout has not favored taking energetic steps against Turkey, will take part in the demonstration.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 19.—The Russian demands on Turkey, growing out of the recent murder of the Russian consul at Monastir, M. Rostkovski, were formally presented at the Yildiz palace yesterday. The Russian squadron is hourly expected. It will anchor in the bay of Mida, off the coast of European Turkey, between Burgas and the entrance of the Bosporus, 80 miles from the latter.

The attitude of indifference hitherto assumed by the Turkish officials towards Russian action is giving away to one of marked concern. The porte fears that Russia contemplates making still more important demands than contained in the recent note of M. Zinovieff, the Russian ambassador, such as the appointment of a Christian governor-general of Macedonia.

Want Consulates Protected.

The ambassadors of the powers have again drawn the earnest attention of the porte to the scenes of massacre at Salonica and have demanded the adoption of immediate and effective measures for the protection of the foreign consulates and the subjects of the various powers.

The Vadmostl, the organ of the Daneff party at Sofia, discussing the situation in Bulgaria in the event of war with Turkey says that at the recent visit of the king of Roumania to Emperor Francis Joseph at Ischl, the monarchs arrived at an understanding that in the event of such a war Roumania should mobolize her army and occupy the triangular territory between Rustchuk, Varna and Silistria, including these towns in order to maintain the equilibrium of power in the Balkans in the event of Macedonia becoming an autonomous province which would otherwise give Bulgaria a too predominating influence in the peninsula.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—An increase of 100 per cent in all commercial telegraphic rates for all words above 10 in messages from this city to New York, Jersey City, Brooklyn, Hoboken and Baltimore, has been made by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. Simultaneous with the increase in the telegraph rates was the announcement of the Bell Telephone Company of an increase in its charges for telephone service to New York. The new rate is 75 cents for three minutes' service.

The camp decided to visit Camp Friend W. Jenkins of Allegheny on Wednesday evening, September 2.

arrival on the pier, sniffingly noted the occurrence as a propitious omen.

Seldom has the passenger list of an ocean liner so resembled a peerage register as that of the Oceanic. Prominent among the passengers, in addition to the earl and countess of Shaftesbury, were Lady Angela Forbes, the countess of Oxford and her daughter, Lady Dorothy Walpole.

This is the first visit the earl and countess of Shaftesbury have paid to this country. They are here as guests of Sir Thomas Lipton by special invitation. During the progress of the races they will be his guests on board the Erin. Sir Thomas escorted them to the tender, which was waiting to convey them to the Erin in the lower bay. While the customs officers were taking their declaration a graceful little scene was enacted.

Sir Thomas and his guests were holding an impromptu reception, when Miss Marjorie Rogers, the beautiful daughter of M. W. Rogers, the San Francisco millionaire, who with her mother, was a passenger on the Oceanic, presented him with a genuine shillelah, brought from County Clare for this special purpose.

The baronet accepted the token in the spirit with which it was given and invited Miss Rogers and her mother to witness the initial contest today from the deck of the Erin.

The countess of Shaftesbury abandoned all reserve in discussing the English 50-footer, which she laughingly referred to as her protege.

"Of course," she smiled, "we have talked and thought nothing but Shamrock-Reliance since the boats were launched. Naturally we have every hope that Sir Thomas will lift the cup, as they say. Surely such perseverance and extreme good nature is deserving of some reward. So we are all remembering Sir Thomas and Shamrock III. in our orisons. England will be heartbroken if we do not take the cup home with us, and, you see," exhibiting a small, gold-mounted rabbit's foot, "we are overlooking nothing to secure success."

Lady Angela Forbes is one of the five beautiful sisters of the earl of Yarmouth, whose recent marriage to Miss Alice Thaw of Pittsburgh attracted international attention. She was met by B. S. Guinness and will be his guest at Douglaston during the races.

The countess of Orford and Lady Dorothy Walpole expect to remain in this country, after the races are over. Lady Dorothy is an intimate friend of Miss Muriel White, daughter of United States Embassy Secretary White. Her mother, the countess of Orford, was Miss Louise Corbin, daughter of the late D. C. Corbin of this city.

CHALLENGER'S OWNER CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Sir Thomas Lipton Says His Designer Is Satisfied With Shamrock III.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—When asked for a prophecy of the result of tomorrow's race, Sir Thomas Lipton said:

"I am more confident of winning than ever, and my confidence is shared by every man in the fleet and other admirers of the Shamrock III. Designer Fife is thoroughly satisfied with the tuning up that Shamrock III. has received and Capt. Wringe is confident."

In reply to a question whether or not there was any basis for suspicion that the challenger had not been permitted to show all her speed in her trials with Shamrock I., Sir Thomas said:

"There never was any jockeying. I do not consider it an honest way of getting people to bet their money. Except in a few cases when Mr. Fife has wanted to sail alongside of Shamrock I. we have always done the best we could and I have always wanted to see her do her best."

Sir Thomas added jokingly: "Shamrock III. will win the first race by either six or seven minutes, I'm not quite certain which; and the second race by four minutes and a half. You will have to ask me about the third race later."

A flood of letters, cablegrams and telegrams reached the Erin today from all parts of the world, bringing wishes for the success of Sir Thomas and Shamrock III. One cablegram came from Lagos, Portugal, from Lord Charles Beresford, saying that all the officers and men of the channel fleet sent hearty good wishes and hoped to hear that Shamrock III. had won by a length. Other messages came from the Durban Yachting club of South Africa, the Yacht Racing association of Perth, Western Australia, the Royal Yacht club in Canada.

Among the notables who will probably be guests of Sir Thomas on the Erin during the races are Col. and Mrs. Sarman-Crawford, Paymaster Gen. Bates of the United States army; the Hon. Charles Russell, John Arbuckle, President Charles E. Adams of the Massachusetts state board of trade and Mrs. Adams; Capt. Brownson, commander of the naval academy; Gen. and Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Crimmins, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Flagler, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Edison, Mrs. Jefferson Davis Hayes, Senator and Mrs. Kearns of Utah, Gov. B. B. Odell, Commodore Price and Mrs. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Revell and Miss Revell of Chicago, Lady Swettenham, wife of the governor of the Straits Settlements; Lieut. Commander Isam Takeshita of the Japanese navy; former Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, Commander John G. Cameron, captain of the Oceanic and Capt. McKinstry of the Teutonic.

25,000 PATRIOTS WILL WITNESS YACHT RACE

Stringent Regulations Provide for Safety of Passengers on Excursion Boats.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Twenty-five thousand people at least will see the first race between Reliance and Shamrock III. tomorrow. From the decks of 30 excursion steamers, and 100 or more yachts. That figure is arrived at by adding the known total licensed capacity of the 35 vessels that have taken out permits to go to the races, to a careful estimate of the number of persons likely to go as yacht owners and their guests.

The 35 excursion boats will be allowed to carry just 20,985 passengers, while an average of 25 persons apiece on 200 other craft of all kinds, steam yachts, sail yachts and gasoline launches, would bring the total to about 28,000.

The number of excursion boats that will go to the yacht races is smaller than in many recent years and the indications today are that there will be thousands of persons disappointed through inability to secure passage on any of the fleet.

"None of the excursion men anticipated anything like the enthusiasm and public interest that is being shown in the yacht race," said Clinton Gilbert Norton, editor of the Marine Journal, a veteran excursion manager, who in past years has always had one of the largest excursion boats at the races.

Precautions Will Be Taken.

"We figured that everyone thought the Reliance had a walk-over and that people were not in town to spend their money so early in the season, the previous races having been sailed from three weeks to a month later."

At the offices of every steamboat line that will send vessels out to see the races the same story was told of sales to the full capacity for the first race and usually heavy advance sales for future races.

The precautions that are being taken by the bureau of steamship inspection under the direction of the department of commerce and labor, for the safety of the sightseers on the races, are much more stringent than they have been at any previous international yacht race.

A month ago Secretary Cortelyou called upon Robert S. Roth, supervising inspector of steam vessels of the third district of New York, to report on the regulation governing the issuance of licenses to carry excursionists out to see and explicit instructions were given for the government of the inspector in issuing such permits. Mr. Rodie said today:

"No one who goes out on any vessel licensed by this department need have the slightest fear as every possible precaution has been taken for the safety and comfort of passengers.

Vessels All Re-Inspected.

"Three classes of vessels have applied for licenses. First, those which already had seagoing licenses and were equipped in accordance with the regulations governing passenger vessels at sea. These ships have all been re-inspected and the number of passengers they were allowed to carry cut down an average of 40 per cent for this occasion.

"Second, the most numerous, is the vessels which have excursion licenses for the harbor and sound, but do not regularly carry seagoing licenses. Every one of these vessels has been required to provide the additional equipment needed by a seagoing ship before the permits were issued. Additional boats and life rafts have also been required and every possible precaution taken. For instance, the Grand Republic, that has a license to carry 3,500 people to Rockaway, has been licensed to carry only 2,000 for the races.

"The third class of vessels consists of tugs of ocean-going capacity that have not heretofore been licensed to carry passengers. They have been required to take out passenger licenses and equip themselves as seagoing passenger ships with life preservers, signal lights and guns, boats and lifelines.

"All steamers under 100 tons going to the races, must have one water-tight cross bulkhead, and vessels coming from other inspection districts are subject to the same regulations.

"To prevent over-crowding and see that no vessel carries more passengers than allowed by its permit, I shall have a deputy inspector stationed at the pier of each vessel to count the passengers. The penalty for carrying more than the permit allows is a fine of $10 for each additional passenger and the revocation of the master's license.

"Any steam vessel that takes people out to see the races without a permit from this department is liable to a fine of $500 and the revocation of the master's license. And a similar penalty awaits any vessel that disobeys the rules laid down by the revenue cutter service for keeping the course clear."

SHAMROCK RECEIVES INCREASED ALLOWANCE

Official Measurer Makes Error in Calculations and Revision Is Necessary.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—On the eve of the contest comes the announcement that the Shamrock will receive a minute and 29 seconds, or nearly two minutes' time allowance, instead of one minute and 45 seconds handicap as announced Tuesday night. Someone made a blunder, but just who it was or how it happened could not be found out at the New York Yacht club tonight. It is whispered that there was a slight error in figuring the Shamrock's rig, and it was not discovered until the regatta committee of the club went over Mr. Mower's figures today.

Thinking that some injustice might unintentionally have been done the Shamrock, the regatta committee ordered Mr. Mower to remeasure the Shamrock's rig, which was done at Sandy Hook this afternoon, and an error was discovered which resulted in 32 seconds gain for the Shamrock. Mr. Mower remeasured the distance from the top of her boom to the throat halyard block and made the throat halyard block three feet lower than he did in his original measurement Tuesday. This made her topmast three feet longer, which decreased her racing length four-tenths of a foot and made her time allowance 32 seconds more than originally given.

This is explained by the fact that the rules of the New York Yacht club provide that "a base line to be taken from a point midway between the jibsail stay and the jibstay on bowsprit, or the flying jibstay if there be no jibsail stay, to the end of the main boom, with the addition of the length of the gaff measure from after side of mast to end, over 80 per cent of the topmast measure from bounds to lower side of shave of topsail halyard block."

So, in other words, when there is more topmast there is less excess of gaff, and it was here that the Shamrock gained her four-tenths of a foot which resulted in the additional allowance.

LADY BERESFORD GOES TO THE RACES

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Lady Beresford, wife of Lord Admiral Charles Beresford of the British navy is the guest of R. D. Guinness of the Douglas mansion in Douglaston. Lord Beresford came to America on the Campania Tuesday to attend the international yacht races as the guest of Sir Thomas Lipton.

AUSTRIAN VETO BELIEVED TO BE INSULT TO ROME

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—(Special Cable.)—Voce Della Verita, the paper of the pope denounces the Austrian veto as presented in an impolite and high-handed manner. The veto is a remnant of the past and an insult to the college of cardinals. No one in the Vatican for a moment believed that the veto originated with Emperor Francis Joseph, but was maliciously inspired by the Italian government. It is generally believed here that the article in the Voce Della Verita, which is written with unusual talent, is made by a man who evidently hates the Italian government, comes from the pen of Cardinal Rampolla with the intention of influencing Pope Pius X., who has formerly always been on excellent terms with King Victor Emmanuel.

MUCH DAMAGE BY SEVERE STORM

Heavy Rainfall, Hail and Lightning Suddenly Visited Cities and Suburbs.

CLOUDBURST IN EVERGREEN

Girty's Run Overflowed Its Banks—Street and Steam Cars Delayed—Greenhouses, Gardens and Crops Were Badly Injured.

An August storm, the most severe for this season in recent years, at 6 o'clock last night swept over Pittsburgh and the Allegheny suburbs. A cloudburst in Evergreen flooded the cellars in that region and changed Girtys run to a torrent which burst upon Millvale suddenly and caused much damage. Hail came down also and in some districts stripped fruit trees and vines of their foliage.

In Avalon two horses were struck by lightning, but the damage was slight and no person was injured. The Bellevue and Avalon line of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was tied up two hours by the deadline of two cars by a slide of mud which buried the tracks at Woodland avenue. Between Avalon and West Bellevue a portion of the Ft. Wayne railway tracks was covered with mud and debris washed down by the torrent from the hills. In Woods run a trolley car was swept to the curb by the flood, which ran down Beaver avenue.

The storm center seemed to be over the districts back of and in lower Allegheny, in which considerable damage was done. The Ft. Wayne railroad probably suffered more than any other road, the piles of earth and rocks which fell down from the hillsides and covered the tracks delaying the trains. One accommodation train coming on the westbound track had a narrow escape from being wrecked. Between Avalon and West Bellevue and near Jacks run big slides occurred.

Considerable Damages at Evergreen.

The greatest damage was wrought to property owners of Evergreen. The storm broke almost from a clear sky. The dash of rain was preceded by a terrific play of lightning and the rain came down fast. Within five minutes after the first rumble of thunder cellars were flooded and gardens and orchards were damaged by the volleys of hail stones. Windows were broken and flower gardens and lawns were ruined. Girtys run was choked with debris and a number of residents on the outskirts of Millvale had their poultry by the sudden rise of the streams.

Sharpsburg and Etna also suffered. At Glenfield a horse owned by T. L. McMillar was struck by lightning while standing in a pasture field. Pine creek was on a rampage and flooded the cellars of the houses along its banks. A piece of the Etna Light Company was struck in Butler street and the supply of current to the business houses in Etna was cut off. Little Pine creek overflowed its banks and the water carried away an icehouse owned by Frank Miller, eight sheds and the foot bridges between Wilson street and Etna street. Nine bridges, which were used by the old horse car line between Bowerstown and Brookville, were carried away by the water.

Hail Added to the Damages.

In the West End and the Chartiers valley the rain and hailstones knocked down crops and flooded streets and made them impassable for over a half hour. Several pedestrians were caught in the downpour, and in streets adjacent to Steuben street, Wabash avenue and Main street, West End.

While the storm was at its height at Oakwood park, Mrs. Daniel Dailey of No. 143 Hamilton street, Allegheny, was struck by lightning and rendered unconscious. She was taken to the city on a car and sent to Mercy hospital, where she recovered sufficiently to go home about 11 o'clock last night. For a time Mrs. Dailey's throat was paralyzed and she was unable to speak.

Mrs. Dailey and her 2-year-old child sought shelter from the storm in the dancing pavilion at the park. During the heavy rain the little girl walked out into the path of Mrs. Dailey and after her. Just as she stepped from the platform a bolt of lightning struck a wire near where the woman was walking and she received a severe shock.

Not Much Damage Downtown.

In the business section of Pittsburgh the storm was not so heavy as in the outlying districts. In Soho a large quantity of debris was washed on the tracks in Forbes street and the cars, crowded with people going home from the city, were tied up at Forbes street for some time. After the traction employes cleared the tracks, mud, rocks and cans were piled up along the curb and wagons had trouble keeping clear of the cars at this point.

Oakland received a large portion of the rainfall, but little lightning was seen. The streets throughout that district were flooded in many places, but the most damage was done by the hail to foliage, plants and flowers. In a number of places in Shady, Ward, Morewood and Brushton districts, cars were tied up on account of the flood. The sewers were overtaxed and in places the streets were flooded from curb to curb, the water in some instances reaching to the floors of street floor apartments. Traffic on cars was blocked during the storm and many people did not reach their homes until long after supper time.

Mrs. Harry Campbell gave a children's picnic to 40 young friends of the three daughters of Mrs. Robert Newton of Haddonfield, N. J., yesterday afternoon at Watterworks park, Sewickley. Mrs. Newton is Mrs. Campbell's sister and the event was in honor of the three children, who, besides their mother, are guests of Mrs. Campbell. A tally-ho trip was a delightful feature.

QUESTIONS OUR PROSPERITY

In a Speech at Olcott Beach He Declares the Nation Has Broken Away from the Good Old Fashioned Doctrine of "Paying as You Go."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

OLCOTT BEACH, N. Y., Aug. 19.—From twenty to thirty thousand people attended the annual picnic of the Niagara County Pioneer association today. The morning was taken up with a business meeting of the association, followed by a reception to ex-Senator David B. Hill.

An immense crowd gathered at the open air theater where the exercises of the day were held. Seated on the platform with Attorney General Cunneen, former Senator Hill, and President Porter of the Pioneers' association were the patriarchs of the county. All of them over 90 years and 76 over 80 years old. To the members of 25 were given seats near the right and left of the ex-senator.

Attorney General Cunneen as the first speaker paid a tribute to ex-Senator Hill. His speaking of the effect of mob law upon the nation, Mr. Hill said:

"We cannot permit this government to become a mobocracy which acts upon impulse, feels no restraint and recognizes no appeal from its hasty judgment. Crimes which should only be punished by such irresponsible tribunals as a mob ought not to be glossed over at all, because in the end the remedy will be found to be worse than the disease. The duty of every American citizen is plain. He should assist in the creation of a healthy public sentiment which should demand that no person charged with crime shall be punished therefor except under the process of law. Every man, whether white or black, native or foreign born, rich or poor, educated or uneducated, must be protected in his life and liberty."

Mr. Hill discussed "Fictitious versus Real Prosperity," as follows:

"There is a chorus of assertion that the country is enjoying a period of much prosperity. Yet there are grave reasons for doubting the entire correctness of the statement. It is conceded that many public works are in progress and many important enterprises are in process of development. But the fact cannot be lost to mind that most of these schemes are being pushed upon borrowed capital—that the future is being largely mortgaged—and that people to harvest the crops needed for feeding the world are already being anticipated, and there is no adherence to the good old-fashioned and safe doctrine of 'paying as you go.'

"Occasional periods have arisen in the history of the country when, in the judgment of statesmen, it was necessary to borrow money for some sort of financial relief, the exact nature of which is not stated upon votes. You will recall the fact that it was only a few years ago when there was a hundred dollars in the treasury for the repeal of the Sherman silver law on the ground that silver was too cheap or too plenty to warrant its continued coinage as a money metal and compulsory silver purchases were accordingly suspended, and properly so. Since there arose a clamor upon congress for the creation of a single gold standard, because better money was said to be desired, and the single gold standard was established. At that time gold was fully entitled and the financial millennium was freely predicted, and now when a falling market is depreciating values and wrecking fortunes we are told that we must immediately have additional financial legislation providing for what the next speaker of the house of representatives has recently described as 'an emergency currency.' Nothing further is presented whereon this proposed measure is in the interest of the people or otherwise.

YOUTH DROWNED IN THE SIGHT OF PLAYMATES

McKeesport Lad Missed Footing at Demmler—Other Coroner's Cases.

While romping with a crowd of playmates on a barge on the Monongahela river near Demmler this morning after school, George Evangelina, Jr., aged 13, of No. 806 River avenue, McKeesport, missed his footing and plunged into the river. His playmates made frantic efforts to rescue the lad, throwing him ropes and boards, but to no avail. The dead body floated to shore shortly after the accident.

Henry Mahin, aged 32, of Forty-first street, who was shot by Policeman Jacob Schwartz of No. 47 station while interfering with the officer in making an arrest on July 25, died at St. Francis' hospital late Tuesday night. Officer Schwartz was placed under arrest upon recommendation of the coroner, and was later released on $1,000 bonds, which was furnished by John Mealy.

Frank Dawson, aged 23, of Second avenue, Homestead, died at the home yesterday from an overdose of laudanum which had been prescribed for him to avoid spitting blood from pneumonia.

CANAL MAY GO THROUGH DESPITE ITS OPPONENTS

Colombian Senate About to Consider Compromise Treaty Covering the Canal Proposals.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—News of the appointment of a conference committee of the Colombian senate and house to agree upon a canal treaty which the Colombian congress will ratify, was received by Dr. Herran, Colombian charge d'affaires tonight. The cablegram, dated August 18, was from the agents of the Panama Canal Company at Bogota and stated the senate had appointed a committee of three to meet with a committee of equal size from the house to draw up a treaty satisfactory to the two houses.

Dr. Herran admitted tonight that a previous cablegram announcing the rejection of the treaty also said "Another proposition is under consideration."

This fact was not disclosed until today, as Dr. Herran claims the cablegram was confidential and he was unwilling to make it public until the news leaked out from another source. Dr. Herran now contends that the Spanish word used should be translated "approved" rather than "rejected."

Of the news from Bogota tonight Dr. Herran said: "This shows that the senate has not abandoned the idea of enacting canal legislation of some sort at its present session. From previous advices I should say that these modifications will deal solely with the question of the degree of sovereignty which shall be conceded the United States on the isthmus." How bitterly the Colombian people feel toward the United States and what their views are upon the proposition for American construction of a canal by the Panama route, is told very clearly in a letter which Senator Morgan has received from F. F. Whitselin, an employe of the Colombian government as chief engineer and general manager of state railroads. This letter says:

"By request of a number of Americans I have been asked to write fully upon the feeling of the people of this country toward the ratification by the Colombian congress of the Hay-Herran treaty.

"In a word, the country is opposed to the treaty; is opposed to Americans in general; is opposed to Americans ever building or controlling a canal across the Isthmus of Panama.

"The press of the country is very bitter against the 'Yankee pigs,' as they call Americans in general, and are saying some very nasty things about us.

"In my opinion as an engineer it will cost very much more to complete the canal across the isthmus than the estimates now before the American people would seem to call for. In conversation here with several French engineers who have been employed on the canal, they place the sum required to complete it at 1,750,000,000 francs."

You Always Get the News First In the Columns of The Gazette.

In aiming to make The Gazette the best paper in Pennsylvania and one of the best in the United States, the management spares no efforts to get all the news first and present it in the best possible form. It was with this object in view that L. W. Strayer, The Gazette's staff correspondent in Washington, was sent to New York state to investigate political conditions there as affecting the nomination of President Roosevelt a year hence, and the possibility of him carrying New York. The first of Mr. Strayer's telegrams, printed on Sunday, was an exclusive interview with Senator Thomas C. Platt, in which that gentleman said there was no doubt but that New York would be for Mr. Roosevelt when the votes are counted. This was followed by the publication yesterday of an interview with Republican State Chairman Barnes, in which he coincided with the views of the senator. Mr. Strayer will visit all the political centers of the Empire State and his observations on the situation will be of value.

The Gazette yesterday printed exclusively an interview with Mr. George Westinghouse of Pittsburgh, who had just returned from England, and spoke of the Yankee "push" which is astounding the Britons. Another interesting exclusive item was the special cable telling of the intention of Emperor William of Germany to transfer the island of Pichelswerder into a castle fortress in case it becomes necessary for him to take refuge there in the event of a revolution, the strength of the Socialists in the last election proving alarming. The Gazette yesterday contained much not in the other Pittsburgh papers, and again we wish to impress on you that if you want all the news all the time before you get it in the other papers, you must read The Gazette.

LARKIN SHOWS WHO IS TO BLAME

Places the Responsibility for Unequal Taxation Upon Bogus Reform Fusion Victors.

CORPORATIONS ARE FAVORED

Street Cars Produce a Trifle of City Revenue, While Vehicles Pay Three Times as Much—Real Estate Owners, Too, Unjustly Treated.

"Legislation for the correction and adjustment of these wrongs was promised the people of this city nearly two years ago, and the promises must be kept; either that or those who obstruct and prevent their adjustment should be relieved of their public trust."

This is Controller John B. Larkin's latest opinion of the reform record of the party now running the city. The words quoted were uttered after the controller had prepared a comparative statement of the city's revenue, which evidently recalled to him prominent points in the fusion platform used previous to last February's election, and the strong points made by the stump speakers who advocated the election of the faction with which the controller was allied, relative to alleged unequal taxation, and as Controller Larkin feels strongly on the subject he did not hesitate to place the blame for the failure to redeem campaign pledges upon the Citizens party.

The injustice heaped upon real estate and the favoritism shown the Pittsburgh Railways Company and other corporations in the method of taxation, were also subjects of the controller's expressions accompanying the statement of the city's revenues from February 1 to July 31, the first six months of the fiscal year, which he made public yesterday.

Water collections were delayed one month, and owing to the time necessary to check up and compare checks, etc., the complete returns are not available but will not fall short of $750,000, making the net increase of revenues so far about $500,000, although this difference may be much cut down in the next six months' receipts. The revenue estimates of the finance committee are proving approximately accurate.

Concerning this comparative statement Controller Larkin said:

"As the collections are largely made in the first six months of the year, this exhibit embraces more than three-fourths of the entire revenue and is given out to satisfy public interest and for comparisons. An interesting feature is that, while the March and September installments of city tax are equal, fifteen-sixteenths of those who pay their tax to the treasurer, pay both installments in March.

Realty Gets Hard Bumps.

"Another interesting phase of the revenue is the very heavy percentage of direct tax taken from realty, amounting as shown, to more than 84 per cent of the whole, while the revenue from all other sources is less than 16 per cent. Add the total collection, $1,500,000, for education and sub-district schools, collectable but not available for current expenses, and the imposition on realty is increased to more than 87 per cent, against a trifle more than 12 per cent paid for the use of streets, lanes, alleys, wharves and every privilege the city has to sell. In other words, men who invest their money in lands and improvements pay $7 to the expenses of the local government, while those who enjoy indisputable possession of every public grant contribute a proportionate $1 to the discharge of city obligations.

"This is wrong. No such discrimination as this can be practiced without hardship and injustice to that large class of people who invest their money where it can be reached for public purposes. As homes, business houses, lands and manufacturing establishments are essential to a prosperous city, so are corporations, but the measure of each for what they enjoy should be the same.

Traction Monopoly's Soft Snap.

The force of the unequal distribution of cost is again apparent in the comparison of the revenue from vehicles and street railways.

"The street cars having the right of way for nearly half the width of almost every important street in the city, contribute this year to the expense of government $20,700, while vehicles, with exceedingly limited rights, have paid $62,000.

"Legislation for the correction and adjustment of these wrongs was promised the people of this city nearly two years ago, and the promises must be kept; either that or those who obstruct and prevent their adjustment should be relieved of their public trust."

MANY STARTLING ACTS.

High Class Aerial Work One of the Big Features of Barnum's Circus.

One of the striking facts in the development of the modern circus is the way in which the performance has impressed itself upon the program. What circus men call the "return act," is a development of comparatively recent years. It combines the grace of the old-time trapeze act with an increased element of danger and daring, and the ordinary trapeze performer of olden days, soon found himself relegated to the rear after its introduction.

In the early days of the big aerial act, the net was practically unknown, and it required two or three startling accidents to convince the public of the danger and daring involved in this kind of a performance. State after state passed laws requiring the use of nets, and in this way the danger of a serious accident has been to a great extent minimized. Aerial acts are, nevertheless, capable of being made extremely thrilling, and the Barnum & Bailey circus, which will open its three-day Pittsburgh-Allegheny engagement next Monday afternoon, promises some displays of this kind that will set the tongues of circus-goers wagging.

Of course the rest of the program is not neglected. There is a full complement of acrobatic riding and other acts; there is a preliminary spectacle, described as gorgeous beyond compare; there is a company of clowns—merrymakers, who are reputed to be really funny; and a museum in which, in addition to a great zoological display, there is exhibited a congress of human prodigies from all parts of the world.

The opening performance, Monday afternoon, will be preceded by a street parade through the principal streets of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. The show will exhibit on the old Exposition grounds in Allegheny.

Russian Official Looked Wise When Told That Verner Was a Politician

"So this is Pittsburgh—Murry Verner's city," was the remark of a distinguished looking man of foreign appearance, as he stepped from a car of the Pennsylvania Limited, at Union station, last evening, and peered upward at the train shed. The gentleman was M. Alexandrovski, commissioner general of Russia, in charge of the Russian exhibit at the coming World's fair at St. Louis. Accompanied by his secretary, Baron Korff, and a government engineer, H. W. Romanoff, he reached New York yesterday, and is en route to St. Louis to make all the final arrangements for Russia's part in the big show.

"Is Mr. Verner at home now?" was the first question he asked of The Gazette reporter at the train. He intends to stop off here on his return, in about a week, to see Mr. Verner in case the Pittsburgher is at home at that time.

When asked about the feeling in Russia toward Mr. Verner's proposed traction lines in St. Petersburg, M. Alexandrovski said: "Mr. Verner himself is very highly regarded and his plans are considered by many to be admirable, but some of the men he took with him to St. Petersburg are not so well liked."

He asked next what Mr. Verner's occupation in Pittsburgh is, and was told that he was a capitalist interested in American traction lines and in local politics. He looked wise at the mention of politics and said nothing more along that line.

Russia will have a fairly good representation at the St. Louis fair, he said. A good appropriation has been made for its installation.

VICTORY CLAIMS ON BOTH SIDES

Effort to Abolish Delinquent Tax Collector in Allegheny Gets Another Whirl Today.

TAXPAYERS ARE INTERESTED

Caucus of Those in Favor of Abolishment Held at Weis' Hotel Last Night. Weis Does Not Say How He Will Vote on the Proposition.

Both the Republican and the Citizens members of Allegheny's common council are claiming the victory in the fight made on the ordinance abolishing the delinquent tax office. The measure will be brought up in the meeting of this branch tonight, and it is expected that the meeting will be largely attended by tax payers.

A caucus of the Republican members was held last night at the hotel of Joseph Weis in Ohio street. Weis is a member of common council from the Third ward and voted with the Wyman people at the meeting last month. He would not say last night how he intended voting tonight, despite the fact that he attended the caucus of those who are fighting for the abolishment of the office.

Chairman Charles F. Kirschler of the finance committee would say nothing last night regarding the result at the meeting tonight. The 20 who voted for the ordinance last month will go the same way tonight, according to Mr. Kirschler. Beside this he would say nothing.

Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the department of public safety, who is managing Davidson's fight in Allegheny councils, expressed confidence last night that his side would defeat the purpose of the Republicans by delaying action on the ordinance for another month, unless a special meeting is called. This is not likely, as President Samuel McElroy, of the common branch, is working for Davidson and against the ordinance.

Should Joseph Weis vote with the Republican members tonight the ordinance will be passed, as his vote will make the twenty-first, and the one necessary to decide the question. If he fails to vote as is expected, the measure will be held over until the September meeting.

The 20 members who voted for the ordinance last month, and who this week renewed their pledges to vote to abolish the ordinance, are: Messrs. Bernhard, Boyd, Cochrane, Frameles, F. W. Frederick, William G. Frederick, Geltz, Thomas, W. Harvey, Henderson, Hollar, Kappeler, Keane, Kelley, Mohney, McBride, McHenry, Schleich, Seethaler and Spicer.

Besides these Charles Ross and Joseph Hilldorfer, from the Tenth and Third wards respectively, signed the pledge to support the ordinance, but both violated the pledge and remained away from the last meeting of the common branch. Both during the past week have declared that they have changed their opinions and will now go along with the Wyman faction in council. Hilldorfer says he does it because his conscience dictates that he should. Ross has nothing to say, but is the constant companion of Director Scandrett.

YOUNG TEDDY GOES TO EMULATE HIS FATHER

President's Son, Bound for the West on Hunting Trip, Passes Through Pittsburgh.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and his two cousins, George and Jack Roosevelt, sons of W. E. Roosevelt, passed through Pittsburgh last night on the Pennsylvania limited, out for a hunting trip. "We are going to Deadwood, North Dakota, and after that I do not yet know where we will go," said Teddy, Jr. The trip is expected to last about three weeks when the president's son will return to school at the Groton, Mass., high school.

In Dakota they expect to look for some good game. They carried with them enough guns to bring down all the bears and mountain lions the president failed to shoot on his recent trips. None of the three is over 18 years of age, but they traveled without the company of an adult and seemed well able to take care of themselves.

STRIKE STILL ON.

Stone Contractors Refuse to Meet Demands of Journeymen.

After several days' consideration the Stone Contractors' association has decided not to grant the new scale of the cutters, which calls for an advance from 50 to 56½ cents per hour. Information to this effect was conveyed to the strikers last night at a general meeting held at 24 Lacock street, Allegheny. The men have been on strike since the beginning of the week. About 400 men were at first affected, although it is said a number of them have returned to work at the new scale. The bosses have prepared figures to show that the cutters of Pittsburgh are now receiving more wages than those of other cities and their refusal to give the increase was due largely to this fact.

BRICKLAYERS WILL PARADE.

Large Union of Building Trades Will Take Part in Labor Day Celebration.

For the first time in the history of Labor Day in Pittsburgh the local unions of bricklayers and the affiliated trades will take part in the parade of labor organizations. The unions of the two cities are among the largest in the building trade line and their action in joining with the other locals will swell the parade by a large number. Several organizations of masons will march on September 7 as well.

HAYS DEFIES THE OLD SOLDIER

Says That He Does Not Fear Them in the County Fight This Fall.

CAPT. WALKER HEARD FROM

He Has Not Been Offered Place on the Ticket by Fusionists—A. S. Miller Working for the Republican Shrievalty Nomination.

Mayor W. B. Hays again bids defiance to the old soldiers. Last night he said that he had been liberally indorsed for his stand in turning the veterans of the civil war out of office and did not fear the old soldier as an issue in the fall fight.

The declaration of the mayor makes it evident that Thomas S. Bigelow has decided not to put an old soldier on his ticket this fall. Mr. Hays says that he has received upward of 200 letters commending his cause in removing the men from office who fought to preserve the Union. He says the writers declare that the old soldiers had held office long enough, and that others should be given a chance to get on the payroll.

Mayor Hays makes the statement that more old soldiers now hold public positions in the city and county than in the past. This will hardly be borne out by an examination of the removals and appointments made by his administration. Old soldiers were usually dropped from the payroll to make room for younger political workers and in a number of instances the places went to young Democrats, in order to carry out the bargain entered into with the Democratic leaders when Hays was made the candidate of that party.

Walker Has Not Been Asked.

Capt. James D. Walker wires The Gazette from San Francisco that he has no intimation that he is being considered as a fusion candidate for sheriff. He was requested by this paper to say whether there had been an offer of the nomination made him. This was his reply:

"Just elected for the third time as national commander of the union ex-prisoners of war. Know nothing of the matter referred to."

Capt. Walker is alderman of the Twentieth ward and his friends in the Citizens party have been booming him for the fusion nomination for sheriff. Thomas S. Bigelow has never indicated that he thought much of Walker's candidacy. Bigelow says that he has not yet found a candidate for the office, but expects to have one by Tuesday. The matter is entirely in his hands. He is the ticket-maker of the combination. Mayor W. B. Hays says that he has not heard any one mentioned for the place. Murry A. Verner has left the city for the remainder of the week. James A. Clark is still looking for a man to nominate for director of the poor.

Miller is at Work.

Andrew S. Miller of Bellevue is securing the sentiment of the Republican leaders on his candidacy for sheriff. Yesterday, in company with Frank L. Blair, secretary of the Soldiers' Civic league, he called upon Secretary Charles A. Muehlbronner of the Republican county committee. The purpose of the visit was to sound Senator Muehlbronner on how he viewed the candidacy of Miller. After the conference Muehlbronner said that he thought Miller would make a very strong candidate. Miller is a prominent member of the Allegheny county bar and is very popular with his comrades in the Soldiers' Civic league.

Senator Muehlbronner said that the only objection he could raise to the candidacy of Miller is that he does not live in Allegheny. "He lived on the North Side. I would not hesitate to vote for him," said the senator. At present there are several Alleghenians who would like to have the nomination. Should the Soldiers league indorse Miller as the choice of the old soldiers of the county, it might be that the prospective North Side candidates would decide to withdraw and turn in for him.

Doors Thrown Open.

Every Republican desiring to seek office in the Republican primaries has plenty of time to get into the field. Under the new rules candidates can announce until midnight on September 12. The primaries are to be held on September 19. One of the Citizens leaders, who has made a careful study of the new rules, says that they are extremely fair.

Another name was mentioned yesterday in connection with the Republican nomination for district attorney. It is that of Thomas P. Trimble of Allegheny.

Charles A. O'Brien, one of the original promoters of the Citizens' party, paid his respects to Bigelow's state yesterday. He said in part:

"I don't wish personally to criticise the Bigelow-Clark ticket, but hope they will be honest enough to drop the reform cry. The fusion business with Bigelow was a fiasco. Brennen never was a bona fide candidate for district attorney and he and Clark never made any real demand for that office for the Democracy or for Brennen personally.

"The posing, the deliberation, the consideration, the side play with Gufey were all in the nature of a Punch and Judy show for the benefit of the Democratic masses. Rose Pigeon had decided weeks before and told Clark and Brennen that he would not allow the Democrats the district attorneyship. He told them they could have the prothonotaryship or leave it. They took it for themselves with which to pay some personal political debts and the Democracy's interest was never considered.

"I will be for any decent ticket the Republicans nominate this election."

Dead Showman Laid to Rest.

Great Sale of Domestic Carpet Size Rugs
All Underpriced.

The pithy part of this announcement is that housewives who desire to freshen up the home for the Winter have the opportunity to buy fine rugs, 12 by 9 feet, for reduced prices.

We are willing to be put to the test in saying that no greater variety in this popular size of rugs can be found anywhere in the Greater City. It is so large that the most exacting taste as to color combinations can find its ideal. While the stock is large, the first day is the best—in other words, first choice is more desirable than any of the after choices. Just a few brief samples of the underprices of these rugs.

$32.50 each —worth $37.50—high grade Wilton Rugs—12x9 feet, beautiful Persian designs. Something that is replete in color harmony and worth immediate attention.

$20 each —worth $22 and $24—Brussels Rugs, 12x9 feet, in Persian designs. Of all rugs noted for long wear, none has a greater reputation than the rug made of body Brussels.

$15 each —worth $18—Tapestry Brussels Rugs, 12x9 feet, the prettiest of color schemes, either dark or light, as your fancy suggests.

Some people imagine these rugs cannot be used on the floor unless the floor is of hard wood. That is a very pretty theory but it will not hold good. We know of lots of homes where the floors are of common pine, and yet this size rug ornaments them in a happy manner, the small portion of the floor which shows being stained in contrasting colors.

Though diplomats at Constantinople scout the report that Russia has added to demands for satisfaction for the killing of her consuls certain other demands affecting the future administration of Macedonian affairs, it is plainly evident that Europe is nervously apprehensive. It is no less notable that St. Petersburg has not joined Constantinople in making denial of the reports. Russia is keeping its own counsel. Whatever its demands they are not being advertised loudly and the silence is ominous. True, the Russian diplomacy never has any brass band attachment, but the dispatch of a fleet to Turkish waters, coincidental with the forwarding of dispatches to the sublime porte is an act of such significance it can hardly be mistaken. In the diplomacy of the United States a combination like that invariably means business.

For the second time the Grand Army of the Republic encampment is on in San Francisco. The ranks have thinned notably since the encampment was held there before, but the welcome given the veterans is warmer. It will not be many years until this annual gathering must be abandoned forever. The heroes of the civil war will cease to march, but they will not be forgotten. Meantime they are teaching the lesson of patriotism to younger generations. In yesterday's parade the Pennsylvanians carried scores of battle flags, shot and torn to rags on bloody fields, and all along the line of march those relics were cheered to the echo. The sons and the grandsons of the men who fought under those sacred banners are as ready to defend their country as ever were their forbears; the daughters and granddaughters have the same heart to face hardship and privation, the harder lot that falls to soldiers' mothers, wives and widows.

Whatever merits or faults may be ascribed to the Hon. David Bennett Hill of New York, it must be conceded he is a shrewd politician. He is an expert at putting his ear to the ground to hear what the populace is saying, and he is equally expert in giving a twist to policies he cannot appropriate to make them appear what they are not. Thus in his address of yesterday Mr. Hill chimes in with the honest public sentiment against drifting into a mobocracy. He denounces the pleas in favor of lynching and declares the remedy worse than the disease. From this sound and commendable doctrine Mr. Hill turns to a confusion of the currency question as brilliant as it is unfair. Handing out a jolly to the silver men on the repeal of the Sherman law because silver was too cheap, and turning a mot on Cannon's "rubber currency" the slippery sage of Wolfert's Roost escapes in a burst of laughter without committing himself to silver, gold, or "rubber." He is clever, but not earnest enough for the presidency of this nation.

The sporting event of the year is on. Reliance and Shamrock III. are about to begin the series of tests that will decide whether the America's cup will remain on this side of the Atlantic or be taken back to Britain whence it came, the trophy for American superiority in sloop yacht construction. This is Sir Thomas Lipton's third trial for the prize, and he has brought to the task a boat that is manifestly superior to its predecessors in the series. The Reliance proved, in the trial races, so little better than Constitution, the defender two years ago, as to indicate a near approach to the limit of Nat Herreshoff's skill as a constructor. The challenger gets a time allowance on measurements, and the outlook is for a close and exciting race. The experts are in doubt which will be the winner, but the American sportsmen are backing the Reliance as loyally and confidently as they backed Constitution and Columbia against the Shamrocks I. and II.

Senator John T. Morgan does not follow other advocates of the Nicaragua route to the immediate conclusion that Panama must be dropped and his pet project taken up. Experience has made him prophecy shy. He does enter into a mathematical computation to show that the American offer to Colombia was a bad bargain for the United States, which Colombia has apparently overlooked, and he remains true to Nicaragua as the only genuine American canal route, but he does not conclude there is no other course open than to take up this project. That is well. The Panama company's offer of sale and the isthmian commission's report has taken the gloss off the Nicaragua canal. Its greater length is less discouraging than its infinitely greater curvature. The distance in curves is in excess of twice that of the Panama route, and its degrees of curvature are nearly seven times as great as Panama. Every navigator knows what that means in a restricted channel and they know it means much more in these days of 700-foot vessels than it did when the extreme length of ocean-going craft was 400 feet.

An official call is out for a Democratic state convention to be held in Harrisburg, September 2, in the board of trade rooms. Heretofore both Republicans and Democrats have held their conventions in the Harrisburg opera house, but an advance in the rent of the thespian temple from $75 to $150 was more than Chairman James Knox Polk Hall would stand. So he rented the board of trade room—amount not stated—and will hold his convention there. Whatever the rent may be, it will be that much money thrown away. The nominees of the convention will go hopeless into the campaign and will come out of it overwhelmingly defeated. Under the circumstances we suggest that next year the Democratic state chairman may effect still greater economy by securing the use of a picnic grove somewhere, earlier in the season, or a campground not in immediate demand for religious purposes. The delegates can take lunches with them. Not only will the expense be less, but there will be more fun, and fun is all they ever get for their money. Politically there is nothing to these Democratic nominating conventions.

Events in the Balkans.

There is this difference between the present situation in the Balkan regions and the situation preceding the events of 1876, that then all Europe was aroused by what were deemed to be unprovoked Turkish atrocities, while now the governments of Europe are apparently agreed that for present conditions Christians are in the main responsible. This appeared recently in an official note of the Russian government and in a statement made just before the recess of the British parliament by Premier Balfour. Doubtless the other foreign offices which agreed some time ago to act together, share the views to which Russia and England have thus given formal expression. But how this agreement on the causes that produced the present troubles simplifies the situation born of them is not apparent. If present conditions have been brought about by Christian provocation of the ruling Mohammedans, the end of the matter between Turkey and the subject peoples threatens to be the same as that which caused the armed intervention of Russia in 1876 and led to a readjustment of the map of the Balkans by subsequent diplomatic intervention of the European powers in the final settlement between Russia and Turkey. We might expect that when the insurrection bears its full fruit there would be another session of Balkan map-making similar to that of 1876 were it not for the lesson of the more recent war between Greece and Turkey, in which Greece essayed the part of champion of the Christian races of Macedonia, and was left by Europe to take the punishment of a crushing defeat from the sultan's troops. The Graeco-Turkish war and the official expressions cited, are at lesat indicative of the wish of the European powers in the present emergency, but the situation threatens to grow beyond them, differing as it does from the situation produced by Greece, in that while the one was an invasion of Turkey to which Christians in Turkey did not respond, the other is an internal conflict between races and religions occupying the same geographical area, inviting a massacre of Christians who are peculiarly the wards of Europe. The attitude assumed by Russia since the murder of her consul at Monastir is not wholly consistent with her expression blaming the Christians, and gives ground for a belief that there may be European intervention of some sort. Whether intervention has been considered and what form it shall take if finally resorted to does not appear, but that the contingency is in some measure provided for has been perhaps manifested in Premier Balfour's statement indicating belief in the ability of Austria and Russia to deal with conditions and confidence that their action would be with singleness of purpose for the peace of Europe. Inasmuch as Mohammedans and Christians are already inflamed against each other, and in such wars no quarter is given, and as the Turkish soldiers cannot be trusted to deal fairly with the Christians in the disturbed districts, it is difficult to see how an occupation by European troops is to be avoided. From this time events may be expected to move swiftly, regardless of the desire of the European governments to hold them in check, and in the end Europe may be compelled by force of arms to introduce those reforms in Macedonia that it insisted should be inaugurated by Turkey, or even to introduce greater changes.

Revenue and Returns.

With the figures before him for the first half of the fiscal year, City Controller John B. Larkin figures that 84 per cent of the total revenues of the city are derived from direct taxation of real estate; 16 per cent come indirectly from various sources. When the expenses of the school districts are included the proportions are 87 and 13 per cent respectively. Mr. Larkin argues this is not just and he argues correctly. The corporations which occupy the streets and capitalize their franchises as property worth many millions pay hardly anything for their privileges, or for the maintenance of order and protection. They pay practically nothing to maintain or beautify the parks which produce for some of them a large income.

There is nothing new in Mr. Larkin's statement of facts, or in his argument. They are as familiar as they are true. Yet nothing is done to remedy the conditions. Coming into power upon a platform profuse in its pledges of reform in this particular, the Citizens-Democrat alliance has done absolutely nothing to equalize taxation or to cut off useless expenditures. The only outcome of the promise to demand compensation for franchises has been a perversion of the pledge to a form well calculated to prevent the city from obtaining the great boon of a removal of railroad tracks in Liberty avenue, and upon that the Citizens have not been agreed. There is no tax upon franchises and Controller Larkin's measures for the appointment of ordinance officers and the collection of revenues from various sources, repose in the committees to which they were referred a year or so ago.

The real estate owner continues to pay the tax. No economy has been effected in the administration of government. The police bureau is crippled by violation of the civil service provision of the charter and the use of the patronage under a gross system of political rewards. Other branches of the public service are only a little less inefficient than the police bureau, so that without any decrease in cost the city has suffered a marked depreciation in what it is getting for its money—money wrung principally from home owners and other realty holders. Mr. Larkin is bold to call attention to the hiatus between promise and performance, but in the language of the mountain "cracker," "What's the use?"

The Panama Problem.

It is too soon for the few uncompromising advocates of the Nicaragua route to insist that the president shall turn from Colombia to negotiate with Nicaragua and Costa Rica. It is not yet certain that we are done with either Colombia or the Panama route. News from Bogota, the capital of Colombia, is meager. The information that the canal treaty was rejected by the senate of Colombia did not reach the United States until five days after the rejection. The Colombian congress is yet in session, and it may be that before it adjourns the senate will reconsider its action. If it shall adjourn without further action there will be no need of haste. The United States is without a competitor for the honor of completing a trans-isthmian canal, and it is a safe assumption that so long as it is in the field as a prospective canal-builder no other company or government will seek to enter the field. The government of the United States, therefore, dominates the situation, and the opposition it may meet in regions throughout whose jurisdiction it seeks to make a water way uniting the oceans are mere incidents to be overcome by wise diplomacy. There was a feeling even before the Panama Canal Company came to terms that the Panama route was the better one. The indorsements of the engineers confirmed this feeling, and the action of the senate of Colombia does not make the engineering problem any different. The difficulties in the way being admittedly political and not physical it will be wiser to wait until their height and breadth and depth are ascertained before taking what would be esteemed by most people a backward step. When the full measure of the Colombian opposition has been ascertained it will be the duty of the president to consider, first, how it may be overcome or nullified before considering another route, which is longer and which the final report of the engineers declared to be in every way less desirable. It may be that if congress reverses its action of last session, which tied the president's hands in making a treaty with Colombia a necessary precedent to the beginning of work at Panama, the final settlement with Colombia may be facilitated. At all events the situation is such that real progress will be furthered by refusal to be driven into hasty action.

More German Army.

Kaiser Wilhelm has jumped into another bunch of trouble. His proposition to make a large addition to his already huge army has appalled the German people and frightened the German financiers. Imperial 3 per cents went down yesterday to 89, the lowest of record, and the air was full of rumors of expected revolution. A few days ago the cable brought a story that the kaiser had begun the construction of a fortress castle to be used as a place of refuge in the event of a revolution, and the account stated that the German emperor was really frightened at the growth of socialism in his domain.

We do not pretend to know what are the sentiments or fears of the German ruler. But it must be patent to all beholders that he could not adopt a course more calculated to encourage the Social Democracy, or to arouse the opposition than to ask for an increase of the army at this time. The army has been a burden to German agriculture and industry for years. On top of that was laid, a few years ago, the kaiser's ambitious naval program on the plea that the empire's future is upon the sea. The German people accepted that dictum enthusiastically in the hope that it was preliminary to a lightening of the army burden. Now they are asked to assume a still heavier load, and it is not to be wondered at that they groan aloud.

Socialist gains in the late election were greatly promoted by the new agrarian tariff. The increase in the cost of food has borne heavily upon the industrial workmen. They turned to the Socialist oppositiou for relief. What will they do now that it is proposed to add the cost of maintaining more soldiers and removing from the productive ranks more young men? Surely, if anything could arouse the spirit of revolt in Germany this is the sort of thing that will do it.

Britain's Home Market.

Something of what Mr. Chamberlain had in mind when he described England as a dumping ground for the world appears in a recent analysis of British trade reports, which shows that the German iron and steel manufacturers are making their own of the British market. There came direct from German ports to England in the past year only 23,148 tons of iron and steel bars and billets, but Sir Thomas Wrightson, M. P., finds that practically the whole of the iron and steel shipments from the Dutch ports came from Germany, and that the addition of these indirect shipments to those which came direct from Germany makes the total of German iron and steel bars reaching England in the year 202,758 tons. In addition to this he learned that a large part of the iron and steel exports from Belgium to England are of German manufacture, and the importations are by these further swelled some 200,937 tons. The British market, it appears, imported 719,961 tons of iron and steel from continental Europe for the year, and considerably more than half of this importation came from Germany—a mere fraction of it directly from German ports, but none the less surely from Germany.

It would seem from this that there is good ground for a demand from British manufacturers and workmen for protection of the British home market by the adoption of protective tariffs on imports, without regard to the matter of preferential trade relations between Great Britain and the colonies. The twist given by Mr. Chamberlain to the tariff discussion has confined the attention of the debaters for the most part to the matter of inter-imperial preferential tariffs, and the free traders have raised the cry of free food for the people, which has been so potent in England since the repeal of the corn laws. Mr. Chamberlain, in a statement cabled from London, published yesterday in The Gazette, replies to critics to the extent of declaring that he has "never suggested any tax whatever on raw materials, such as wool or cotton," holding such a tax entirely unnecessary for the purpose he has in view, "namely, for mutual preference with the colonies and for enabling us to bargain for better terms with our competitors." He just touches the free food matter in a negative way, declaring there is nothing in his "policy of tariff reform which need increase in the slightest degree the cost of living of any family in the country." In view of Sir Thomas Wrightson's analysis, however, it would appear to an outsider that Mr. Chamberlain would have had less to explain and his position would therefore be stronger if he had approached the British public with the argument of British necessities instead of with a plea for closer union with the colonies by means of preferential tariffs. An appeal to selfish considerations to the exclusion of others in the first instance might have been more effective. Britons now feel that they are asked to give up something for the benefit of the colonies, which have been selfishly considerate of their own interests in levying import duties on British manufactures, and they are having this impressed upon them by Chamberlain's opponents. As a matter of fact they have need to protect their own home market, and if home protection had been made the dominant note in the Chamberlain propaganda the colonial secretary might have made better headway than he has by attempting to dazzle British fancy with an imperial dream.

Matse Henry Watterson again asserts that Bryan and Cleveland are two selfish politicians who are playing upper and nether millstone to squeeze the life out of the Democratic party. However, they might be engaged in much worse business.

Former Senator Smith of New Jersey gives the Cleveland boom for the Democratic nomination for president a boost. It may be also said that Mr. Bryan's knocks are boosts.

It must have seemed like those good old times when the police had to be called to participate in the Luzerne county Democratic convention.

DAYS GONE BY.

Oh, the days gone by! Oh, the days gone by!
The apples in the orchard and the pathway through the rye;
The chirrup of the robin, and the whistle of the quail,
As he piped across the meadows sweet as any nightingale;
When the bloom was on the clover and the hue was in the sky,
And my happy heart brimmed over in the days gone by.

In the days gone by when my naked feet were tripped
By the honeysuckle tangles, where the water lilies dipped,
And the ripple of the river lapped the moss along the brink,
Where the placid-eyed and lazy-footed cattle come to drink,
And the tilting snipe stood fearless of the truant's wayward cry,
And the splashing of the swimmer in the days gone by.

Oh, the days gone by! Oh, the days gone by!
The music of the laughing lip, the luster of the eye;
The childish faith in fairies and Aladdin's magic ring,
The simple, soul-reposing, glad belief in everything,
When life was like a story holding neither sob nor sigh.
In the golden, olden glory of the days gone by.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Kisses kept are wasted;
Love is to be tasted.
There are some you love, I know
But are loath to tell them so,
Lips grow dry and eyes grow wet
Waiting to be warmly met.
Keep them not in waiting yet,
Kisses kept, are wasted—
Love is to be tasted.

Kisses kept are musty;
Words are dry and crusty,
If the sentence be not
Parted with the four-tipped dot.
Kisses are a blossom, bred—
Blooming for your daily need.
Pluck them, or they go to seed,
Dry, perhaps, and dusty;
Kisses kept are musty.

Kisses, not the hidden;
Not the base forbidden;
Not the meaningless, or mean;
Not the careless, but the clean.
Blossoms from a double root;
Twin-ones from a rhyming lute;
Wholesome halves of our ripe fruit.
Keep them, and you waste them;
Give them, and you taste them.

—Edmund Vance Cooke.

Who is Edmund Vance Cooke?

Whoever he is, he seems to be quite human, and to have well defined tasts concerning things—some things anyhow.

You may not be interested in the subject on which he dwells, or you may be. Some people are more or less; and there are some who say they are not, but that is a hard proposition to prove.

There was that versatile genius, Dean Swift, who sighed: "Lord! I wonder what fool it was that first invented kissing."

If you will take the trouble to look up his career as a gallant and lover, you may not wonder that he should have said this, after his kissing days were over.

Our newly-discovered poet comes nearer, much nearer, being a poet of the people than did Dean Swift in his day. You may say his poetry is twaddle, and his subject not worth bothering with; but you don't mean it. Maybe you don't bother about it, and maybe you do. Anyway, you like to read about it, and you talk about it some, all of which goes to prove that if it doesn't bother you, or you don't bother about it, it interests you some.

In this day and age of the world we can't afford to ignore small or trifling things, even such a trifling thing as kissing.

If it be a wicked or a vulgar thing it ought to be shown up as such, for vulgar, wicked habits, though trifling, are almost certain to lead to worse ones.

If it is not altogether vulgar and wicked then let it be known that it is something that may become bad through abuse.

And then you should bear in mind that it is one of the things controlled by sentiment and not by law. As well issue a mandamus against a comet as against kissing. People will do it, as you very well know, and the best that can be expected is that it shall be done decently and in order.

Instruct your children on this point, remembering and bearing in mind that you were young once. Think back a few years and try and recall some of the pleasantest hours of your life, and be honest about it. Of course, you needn't tell any one what you are thinking, but keep it in mind so you may instruct your young people properly.

One thing about the subject is that it is not dense—not very dense. To most persons it is easy to think about, and pleasant, too, which is more than can be said of sundry subjects and social topics, that are held to be essential.

And yet there is a lot to be said about it, and to do it full justice one would have to make quite extensive researches in literature, history and biography. You might think any one who would devote much time to such research would be pretty hard up for something to do. But there is Dr. Christopher Nyrop, professor of philology in the University of Copenhagen, who has written a history of kissing.

He is not the inventor of the play called "Copenhagen," but his book shows that he is quite familiar with its principle features.

He quotes a Latin epigram to show that kissing belongs among the classics, or at least it was known and appreciated by those who made classics. The epigram runs thus: "What is sweeter than wine? The den of heaven. And what is sweeter than den? Honey. And what is sweeter than honey? Nectar. And what sweeter than nectar? A kiss."

Not bad for the classics.

He found that poets had tried variously to describe the sound of a kiss; some likening it to the waves of ocean, and to many pleasant things. But the Germans failed utterly in their descriptives, he is sorry to say. One said it was like a man striking at flies on his bald head, and another, and no doubt an unkissable man, said it reminded him of the noise made by a cow drawing her foot out of a tough bog.

What an unkissable set these Germans must have been. Are they all of that stripe?

❀ ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀

Prof. Nyrop spent much time trying to find out how women regard kissing—really and truly regard it. He found that they agreed, almost to a woman, on one point, to wit: That men with beards are far preferable to all others. He quotes from an old Roumanian ballad, in which a hero sighs: "I am too young to marry, for my beard has not yet sprouted. What married woman would kiss me?"

He quotes a Holland lady of taste as saying: "Kissing a man who has no beard is like kissing a mud wall."

He also finds that women do not fancy moustaches—not too moist, to prove which he quotes the Danish expression: "He is good to kiss, but only when he is thirsty." Also one from the German: "If you like him you will get some sense along with it."

The professor concludes that the mouth is none the worse for a kiss, since it may be wiped, if necessary; but the fire kindled in the heart may never be quenched. This should be taken as a warning not to bestow kisses when there is tinder close by, unless it is your desire to set it on fire.

He also concludes that stolen kisses are longest remembered—remembered pleasantly or otherwise. In this connection he recites a case tried in a London court in 1895, in which a man sued a woman for having bitten a piece off his nose while he was in the act of stealing a kiss. The court held, and still holds that: "When a man kisses a woman against her will she may bite off his nose if she wants to."

As a collection of literature Dr. Nyrop's "History of Kissing" is very complete, and decidedly unique. Whether it is meeting with much success in this country is not known. Most persons here would rather learn by experimenting than from books.

❀ ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀

Don't be foolish. Only the kiss that means something is worth while. Any other is only a profanation.

The objection urged against kissing is the same as are urged against dancing—that it excites unholy passions. The objection holds good only where the feelings and passions are not controlled as they should be. All unholy passions should be under control, and it is the duty of parents to so educate their sons and daughters that they may distinguish those, and maintain a mastery over them. This alone will render them perfectly pure.

Young people are not so dumb, or stupid as to be ignorant of the feelings that belong to their nature. Therefore, it will not do to merely try to keep them in ignorance. They will find out, be sure of that; and how much better they should learn from their parents, or those interested in their welfare, than from those whose moral sense is none the purest and best.

Don't blame the young folks altogether. Take some of it to yourself—a good deal of it. Young men and women who have been raised properly, and rightly instructed, are not apt to go very far wrong.

Instead of forbidding the kiss of affection, or even of pleasantry, let it be understood, for the harm is not so much in the act itself as in misunderstanding its meaning or purpose.

Don't be foolish.

Any word you say, no matter how oft, may convey a wrong meaning. So may your most thoughtless acts. Be careful, therefore, to understand what you do and what you say, and so express yourself in act and word that you may not be misunderstood.

Don't be foolish.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Broadway tonight is as full of suppressed excitement as if a national election were to take place on the morrow. Betting, which has been at 5 to 2, is getting toward a shorter price, and it is expected that some wagers will be made at even money before the race begins. There is a great deal of personal sympathy with Sir Thomas Lipton, because he is a popular man, but the patriotism of Americans is arising forth and you do not hear so many hopes that the Irish knight will win as seemed to be the fashion a few weeks ago. As the important day approaches people are losing sight of the personal aspect of the contest and are thinking only of the honor of the country. All the newspapers have made arrangements to give bulletins every few minutes tomorrow, and people in Manhattan will be able to follow the races as closely as if they were on an excursion boat or even aboard one of the privileged revenue cutters. In fact, the average New Yorker will know a great deal more about it from the bulletins than he could possibly acquire from seeing the race itself. To the landsman there is nothing in the way of sport more uninteresting than a yacht race. You see two little boats with an enormous spread of sail cutting through the water, apparently without definite aim, and whether they are on the first "leg" or the third, or whether they are steering sou'-sou'west-by-west or are three wheels in the wind or dangling the baby jib, not 100 persons of the thousands on the excursion steamers will have a clear idea. On the other hand the crowds looking at the bulletin boards outside the newspaper offices will understand well enough when the statement appears that "Reliance is three lengths ahead of Shamrock III." or "Shamrock later is holding her own with the defender." On the whole, Broadway will be as good a place as any from which to witness the yacht race.

Troubles of the Designer.

That is an interesting story told of the nervousness of William Fife, designer of Shamrock III., when he feared that the yacht might be disqualified on account of being over the 90-foot load water line length. How he threw hatches and flooring overboard and did everything possible to lighten the yacht and how a smile displaced the worried look his face had worn since he found that the bent was too long, has been commented on over and over again today. Sir Thomas Lipton was in a stew, too. But everything was fixed at last, and when the official measurer said "O. K." Fife and Lipton felt almost as if they had lifted the cup.

The Czar of the Tenderloin Retires.

Capt. Andrew J. Thomas, who has just been retired from the police force on account of failing health, was one of the pleasantest men in the New York police department. He seldom lost his temper. He generally had a pleasant word for everybody he met, and it was a tradition that he never left anybody out of humor but once. That was some four years ago, when a newspaper published a story that he had been seen driving in Central park with a French dancer so that he could protect her from robbery. She wore a lot of diamonds and it was said that when she had asked for police protection the gallant captain offered to go with her himself. Of course the yarn was denied and was proved to be untrue. But Capt. Thomas said that his wife never quite believed the denial. Aside from that one episode, friends of Thomas cannot remember ever seeing his demeanor even slightly ruffled. He was czar of the Tenderloin for a short time under Commissioner Partridge but was soon transferred. It was about the time that the councilmanic war was trying out a lot of police captains in the hope of finding one who could keep things in order in West Thirteenth street.

Grocery Clerks on Their Muscle.

Now it is the grocery clerks who intend to have a picnic. They will meet in a neighboring park and show that the muscle they have acquired in weighing tea, throwing about tenpound packages of sugar and making change in the midst of as much excitement as usually prevails in a saloon fight can be utilized in throwing the hammer, playing baseball, wrestling, swimming and spieling. It is said that next to the drygoods clerks, the young men in New York groceries can show a larger number than any other industrial class in the city.

The Significance of a Jinrikisha.

A dainty young woman in a gray colored kimono and with her hair carefully dressed in the Japanese fashion, rides about Manhattan in a smart jinrikisha. The man in the shafts looks like a Japanese, but probably is a negro made up for the part. The whole outfit is to advertise a "painless" dental establishment. Although what connection there is between dentistry and a rikisha does not appear, unless it is that the Japanese are anything but remarkable for the excellence of their teeth, and, therefore, may be supposed to need the services of a dentist pretty often.

Pirates in the Amen Corner.

The Pittsburgh baseball club is quartered at the Fifth Avenue hotel. The uptown hotel at which the club usually sojourns had no room for the boys, so they had to go somewhere else. The spectacle of the Pirates crowded ensemble into Amen corner the evening was an edifying one. They were not talking politics, either.

Cleveland's Name Will Not Down.

An interesting political sign of the times is that in New York Democrats will not allow the name of Grover Cleveland to drop out of sight as a presidential possibility. Mr. Cleveland has declared again and again that he would not accept a nomination, and most conservative citizens, Democrats as well as Republicans, are sure he could not get the nomination, much less win the election. Still, the slogan is uttered, "Cleveland for president," and it simply will not down.

The Cup Races.

It all goes well two boats in the race for the America's cup will be placed to somebody's credit before the week is out. This chances for the blue ribbon of the seas has always aroused intense interest on both sides of the water and this year will be no exception. The contesting craft are the fastest ever built in their respective countries. Reliance has shown a clean pair of heels to all competitors in the trial races, including the old Columbia, which twice successfully defended the cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's challengers. On the other hand tests under all conditions on both sides of the Atlantic have shown that the latest Shamrock is the fastest single sticker ever turned out from a British yard. The contestants are the best that the two great yachting nations of the world can put afoot.

As to the outcome the experts on both sides of the water are confident, and the easy thing that the Bryanite can be sure of is that experts have often been fooled. The best opinion is that, whatever the result, the margin of victory will be small and that the struggle is likely to be the closest and most interesting of all the series extending over more than half a century.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

+ + + +

Interest in the cup races would have been widespread because of the international feature, but no event has been more extensively advertised, and the interest is almost universal. Because the cup defender, seems to be the favorite. How much of this is due to patriotism and how much to calm judgment cannot be determined. It is often said that the popular opinion is the sane opinion and it unquestionably is in the majority of cases. In a yacht race, however, the views of experts would seem to be of more importance. The experts are not a unit with reference to the merits of the rival yachts. All that is conceded without controversy is that the Reliance is the fastest American boat which has undertaken to defend the cup, and Shamrock III. is the fastest British boat which has attempted to lift it.

These facts have certainly been ascertained by the trial spins, and they convey the impression that the races will be very exciting. The attempts to prove by figures which are purely hypothetical that only so fast boat will carry them to victory. Figures are interesting in the performances of both yachts which cannot be explained by figures, and which may affect a very important bearing on the contest. The striking fact to know is that each yacht is the fastest creation of its own country, and that, therefore, a great series of races may be expected.—Baltimore American.

+ + + +

From a sporting standpoint it would be perhaps for the best if Lipton succeeded in lifting the cup. Should it go into his hands the chances are that the next race would bring forth a much more wholesome type of boat than the present enormous racing machines. Their absolute uselessness after a contest makes the expense of building and racing a cup chaser something astounding. Lipton has not given out any official figures, but it is generally believed that more than half a million would be a low estimate of his expenses on each of these cup hunting expeditions he has made. He has said several times that he would like to see a better type of boat racing for the cup, but so long as it is in the present hands it looks as though it would continue to be a struggle between racing machines pure and simple.

That Sir Thomas does not intend to give up trying has been frequently asserted, and he spoke recently to that effect at a public banquet. It is such men as Lipton who make yacht racing and keep it what it is, the cleanest and most honest of sports. He is a brave and generous competitor, and he has the good wishes of partisans and opponents at once, a rare state of affairs.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

+ + + +

This is one time in the year when even the landlubber who does not own a yacht cup and who has confined his sea experiences to the ruging Chautauquoise has the same right to enthuse as he enjoyed by his less fortunate brother brought up upon the surrounding of the Grand banks. We whose sea legs have been acquired by roaming over the hills of the Piedmont counterpart propose to have our share of fun out of this thing. If Reliance shows her nose to the front, we will feel so happy as we do when Ab Powell's Colonels pull down a victory from the aggregation representing Montgomery in the Southern league—just as happy as when cheering from afar the efforts of some patriot of the bleachers to swat the umpire. And we propose to give voice to our enthusiasm in language whose purport cannot be mistaken, even if we should at times become a little mixed in our nautical terms.

May the best yacht win—providing she's the one that flies the stars and stripes.—Atlanta Constitution.

+ + + +

The Englishmen have placed much faith in the Shamrock III. after seeing her performances in light airs as compared with the old Shamrock. Here is where we are inclined to think a mistake has been made, for we believe the English generally have credited the Shamrock I. with a performance in light airs which she could not justify in a race for the America's cup. Then, too, the Reliance is to be in the hands of that accomplished sailor, Capt. Barr, and those who were in the trial races are willing to testify that this is worth a great deal to any yacht in a race. So far as the outcome is concerned there seems to be little reason for the Americans to feel anxious.—Boston Transcript.

+ + + +

As to the result of the races, the fact that bets have been made of two to one in favor of Reliance indicates that its chances are the best. Very little is heard of what the Americans are doing, as compared with Sir Thomas Lipton, but they have not been idle. Sir Thomas says that he will come back again if he loses this time, and as he is getting to be an experienced yachting man and expert he may some time, with favorable weather, take the cup back to England. Whether the racks have affronted the art of shipbuilding in any degree is not quite clear, but the general belief is that they have been in that way beneficial.—Philadelphia Press.

Parry and the Unions.

D. M. Parry of Indianapolis is to the employers' organizations just what the reckless and impulsive labor agitator is to the trades unions. Parry is a disturbing influence. He stirs up needless trouble and strife. His present antagonisms where the aim should be to promote the spirit of friendliness. He is extreme and selfish in his opinions, thus tending to divert attention from points that properly call for correction. Parry may mean well, but he is pestiferous, nevertheless, and should be suppressed. Organizations of employers cannot afford to have it understood that Parry expresses their sentiments toward organized labor.—Chicago News.

KLOMAN'S BODY IS COMING HOME

First Victim of the Famous Samar Campaign Was a Prominent Young Pittsburgher.

A SCION OF NOTED FAMILIES

Because of His Youth His Enlistment Was Opposed, but He Found a Way to Follow the Flag to the Far-Away Philippines.

Word was received in the Pittsburgh yesterday that the body of Edward Abel Kloman, late a private in Company D, United States marine corps, had reached San Francisco and would be sent at once to his mother, Mrs. A. C. Kloman, of No. 1848 Clark street. The remains are expected to arrive on Saturday or Monday. Young Kloman, a boy of 19 years, was the first to fall in the campaign in which Maj. Littleton W. T. Waller so thoroughly quelled the insurrection in Samar. He came of two of the oldest families of Pittsburgh. His grandfather on his father's side was the late Andrew Kloman, one of the pioneer iron men of this city, and his mother was a member of the Abel family, so well known in manufacturing and financial circles. One of his uncles, for whom he was named, is Capt. Edward Abel, well known in Grand Army circles.

EDWARD ABEL KLOMAN,
Private Company D, U. S. Marine Corps, Who Was the First Man to Be Killed in the Samar Campaign.

Kloman wanted to enlist at the time of the trouble in China, but on account of his age found opposition at home. He left Pittsburgh and went to Annapolis, where he succeeded in entering the marine corps. He was assigned to Company D and sent to the Philippines. The detachment of the corps to which his company was attached was in the Islands when Company C, Ninth United States infantry, was massacred at Balangiga on September 19, 1901. Capt. Victor, a noted Filipino, took a leading part in the treacherous attack on the Ninth regiment and Maj. Waller, with a force of 320 marines, including Company D, was sent to punish him.

The force reached Samar on October 22 and at once began the campaign that attracted so much attention. For two weeks they cleaned up the country without losing a man. Capt. Victor managed to keep away, and an expedition was started after him on November 6. They went up the Soloton river in native boats, fighting with concealed men on either bank all the way. Eight miles from the starting point they came to a strong fort, and the order was issued to assault it. Up to this time they had not lost a man.

The action opened at once and it was here that young Kloman, who was in the bow of the leading boat, met his death. How he died is told by Harry Glenn, a sergeant of his company in these words:

"As our boats were urged forward in the assault we were greeted with a hot fire. Kloman, one of our men, who had just raised his rifle and was about to press the trigger, gave a horrible gurgling cry, dropped his rifle from his nerveless fingers and pitched forward. A bullet had struck him in the face and passed out at the back of his head, killing him instantly."

After the insurgent fort was captured the body of the dead boy was buried. Under government regulations it could not be removed until this spring. It was shipped from Samar in April and has just reached San Francisco.

Mr. Kloman is survived by his mother and two brothers, Charles and Andrew Kloman, who reside at No. 1848 Clark street. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral nor can there be until the remains finally reach Pittsburgh.

NEED MONEY FOR LIGHTING.

Director McIlvain Says Allegheny Is Short $50,000 for the Plant.

Director E. J. McIlvain of the department of public works of Allegheny wants $50,000 to run the city light plant for the remainder of the year. The appropriation for this purpose, the director says, has been almost exhausted by the payment of last year's bills out of this year's appropriation. Of $25,000 necessary to purchase fuel, oil and grease, there is but $7,000 remaining and this, the director says, is inadequate to carry on the expenses of the light plant.

A communication to this effect was to have been presented to the select branch of councils yesterday, but as there was no quorum the paper will be held over until the next meeting.

Charged With Passing Bad Money.

Charles Burton, colored, 41 years old, was locked up in the East End police station last evening on suspicion of passing counterfeit money. Burton entered the grocery store of C. S. Young, No. 231 Larimer avenue, last Wednesday, and purchased some groceries. He gave in payment a half dollar, which proved later to be a clever counterfeit. Burton was identified by the clerk of the store as the man who had passed the bad money. This is the fourth piece of counterfeit money found in the East End recently. The other pieces were a dollar, a dime and a nickel.

Fighter Resisted Arrest.

After a hard fight Constable Michael Servien of the office of J. T. Wilson, justice of the peace at Imperial, finally landed Michael Weber, alias Michael Teberack, in jail yesterday. Weber bears a scalp wound as a result of his attempt to escape, and the constable comes with a few bruises and soiled clothing. Philip and Margaret Lauft sued Weber for assault and battery and he was ordered committed. On the way to the train with the constable he attempted to pull a revolver, and the trouble started.

Four Towns Hold Joint Picnic.

Almost the entire population of McDonald, Oakdale, Midway and Primrose attended the joint outing given by the business men of the town at Rock Springs park, W. Va., yesterday. All the business houses in the four boroughs were closed the entire day. Three trains were run over the Panhandle railroad, carrying 45 cars and about 5,000 persons.

Newspaper Is Bankrupt.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Papers were filed in the United States district court here today announcing that the Doylestown Republican, a Bucks county journal, had gone into bankruptcy. It is said the trouble is the result of the failure of the Doylestown National bank.

TWO FLATS RANSACKED IN MIDDLE OF THE DAY

Thieves Showed Evidences of Acquaintance of Victims' Habits and of Being Professionals—Several Hundred Dollars' Worth of Goods Lost.

Two robberies occurred in Oakland yesterday at noon, and the thieves got away with several hundred dollars' worth of booty. The first robbery took place in the house of D. H. Geissinger, a salesman for the Bayard Machine Company. Mr. Geissinger occupies the east side of the third floor of the Sussex flats, Forbes street and McDevitt place. The family was away all day yesterday and on returning home last evening found the house in the greatest confusion. Bureau drawers, dressers and closets had been ransacked and the contents spread about the rooms. The thieves were quick about it. They secured about $100 worth of silverware, opera glasses, bracelets, a gold penholder and a gold ring. The door of the house leading from the main hallway to the house had been sprung by means of a jimmy.

The other robbery was in the Hartford flats, Atwood street and Cable place, about five minutes' walk from the Sussex flats. The home of C. F. Briggs, which is on the second floor facing Cable place, was entered. Mrs. Briggs left the house about 11:30 and came down town to do some shopping. Upon her return home about 1:15 she was amazed to find the door open and the contents of bureaus and clothes presses cast into the middle of the rooms. An investigation showed that the thieves had entered the place by springing the door with a jimmy in the same manner as had been done at the Sussex flats. Two valuable gold watches, three bracelets, two revolvers and a quantity of silverware and linen were missing. The back door was found open and it is supposed that the thief made his escape in this manner. Fortunately Mrs. Briggs was wearing her jewelry and had left no money in the house.

The Oakland police were notified of the robberies about 7 o'clock last evening. Capt. A. M. Testera, acting inspector in Inspector Milton Bailey's absence, made an investigation. It was a good job done at each place and evidently by one well acquainted with robberies and also with the time of the accustomed absences of the Geissinger and Briggs families. It is supposed that both robberies were committed by the same person.

Each family has private suspicions as to the robbers, but would say nothing of them.

SEVERAL CITY DOCKS PROPOSED BY MAYOR

Business Men Suggest Change in Rates to Benefit Merchants, as Well as the City.

Mayor Hays yesterday denied the published assertion that the system of docks suggested for the Allegheny river wharf was held up by the Duquesne way franchise ordinance, now pending in select council. He flatly asserted that the proposed elevated railroad along the wharf had nothing whatever to do in delaying the wharf idea. The elevated railroad structure will have plenty of openings through which teams and wagons can go to and from the river bank or the docks when built.

Mayor Hays said the decision whether or not to build docks was with city councils. The present dock, near the Ninth street bridge, belongs to the city, but the machinery is owned by the coal company that operated it until lately. That company handled only its own coal and kept the machinery busy all day long. Seven or eight docks, built by the city, might accommodate all the business firms who use the river for transportation purposes, the mayor said.

The mayor was told that the war department might refuse to allow more docks to be built, and he remarked that in that case the present dock would either have to be turned over to one company or else abandoned altogether. Two companies could not use it conveniently, as one would be in the other's way.

When the mayor's opinion was learned a business man suggested that while one dock would be unhandy for two coal companies, but that if the lifting of coal to the dock was forbidden, the dock could be made a great convenience to wholesale men who receive a good deal of nonperishable freight by river. The present dock was supposed to be used for all business, he said, but the rates for docking any commodities but coal were purposely made so high that it was cheaper to haul them by wagon from steamboats on the Monongahela wharf than to patronize the dock. He suggested that the rates for docking coal be made prohibitive, so that the docks could be used for general business, thus insuring a large revenue for the city.

VICE CRUSADE BEGUN AGAIN IN M'KEESPORT

Constable McCarthy Will Enter Suits in All Parts of the Tube City.

A vice crusade has been started in McKeesport by Constable John McCarthy of the Ninth ward. He is a son of a policeman, and says he is posted on the doings of vice in the Tube City. The number of places where liquor is sold illegally is now almost as great as it ever has been in the city's history, says the reformer, and he is after these places and disorderly houses.

McCarthy has caused a sensation by going out of his ward to prosecute and will make informations against persons in all parts of McKeesport. Yesterday he sued Elias Birnkrant before Alderman Morgan, charging him with selling liquor illegally. Ellen Boyd has been sued before Alderman Mansfield on a similar charge, coupled with that of keeping a disorderly house. Sophia Ellis also has been charged with keeping a disorderly house.

ELOPERS FROM HOMESTEAD MARRIED AT YOUNSTOWN

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—The climax of an elopement from Homestead was a marriage which took place after last midnight. Catherine C. Platt was the bride and Elmer J. Weick, an architect, the groom. At 12:30 o'clock Elder E. J. Whitslar was awakened by a knock at his door. He found the couple with a cab waiting for him. The young man insisted that the ceremony be performed at once. He produced a ring and the full ceremony was gone through.

CITY ELECTRICIAN IS VICTIM OF SMALLPOX

Contracted Disease While at Work at Municipal Hospital—Contractors Building Wing to Move Part of the Old Structure—Eleven New Cases

After working about the Municipal hospital for several days, repairing fire alarm wires, William Laughrey, aged 26, an electrician in the employ of the city, contracted smallpox and was removed to the hospital yesterday morning. Laughrey, who resides at No. 1318 Gibson street, reported yesterday morning that he was unable to go on duty and asked that Dr. Booth of the bureau of health call at his home, as he feared he had contracted the disease. Investigation by the doctors proved that his fears were realized.

The contractors who are building the new Municipal hospital have finally consented to move a wing of the old hospital to make room for the new structure. They had refused to touch the building until all the patients had been taken out and every room fumigated. The building will be moved seven feet and when the new one is completed the wing will be connected. The new hospital, it is expected, will be completed by December. Superintendent G. W. Moore of the bureau of health is considering the inauguration of a rule to compel the vaccination of infants under six months of age. Mr. Moore said yesterday that winter was formerly considered the worst season for smallpox epidemics, but the means of contagion have increased so much that summer is now regarded as bad as winter.

Eleven cases of smallpox were reported yesterday and all the victims were taken to the Municipal hospital. Four of the victims were colored and came out of one house. They were Abraham McKenzie, 24 years old; Chester McKenzie, 22 years old; Mary McKenzie, 20 years old; Chester McKenzie, 9 years old. Twelve members of this family live in the cellar of a house on Ridge street, near Thirty-third street. It is divided into two rooms, one of these being used as a sleeping apartment. Last week one child was taken to the hospital and yesterday four others were found to be down with the disease. The house was quarantined and the seven others left there.

Three members of William Miller's family, No. 40 St. Paul street, were sent to the hospital together. They are William Miller, 40 years old; William Miller, Jr., 14 years old, and Charles Miller, 6 years old.

The other cases are those of John Thomas, colored, 37 years old, No. 4 Spring alley; Alice Hill, colored, 35 years old, rear of No. 18 Lambert street; Lizzie Holland, colored, 24 years old, Griffins court, off Webster avenue, and that of Electrician Laughrey.

WANT MURDERER PARDONED

Efforts in Behalf of Schiller of Youngstown, Who Killed His Wife.

Pittsburgh friends of Michael G. Schiller of Youngstown, O., now awaiting death for wife murder at Columbus, O., are starting a movement to gain for him a re-trial. Tony Hovarth of No. 704 Third street, Allegheny, will aid Schiller. Mr. Hovarth was formerly supreme organizer of the German Benefical union of Pittsburgh, and Schiller was deputy of district No. 236 of that union, at Youngstown.

Mr. Horvath says Schiller's property and the amount of debts due him are sufficient to pay the expenses of a new trial. Schiller is thought to have been insane, according to Hovarth. The latter received a letter from Schiller that indicates that his mind is not right. Before he committed the murder Schiller had been drinking heavily, and at the time he was suffering from a severe blow received on the head, a short time previously. November 10 is the date set for the execution.

BRIDEGROOM THROWN OUT

Three Hour Courtship Results in Marriage and Other Troubles.

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—After a courtship of less than three hours John Allen, aged 82, an inmate of the Soldiers' home at Kearney, was married yesterday to Mrs. Mary Jane Cherry Jones of West Orange, who is 25 years his junior.

Allen formerly lived near the Jones home and when he proposed to the widow yesterday, he was promptly accepted. After the marriage the couple returned to the bride's home, but the bride's adult son, Alexander Benjamin, ordered the aged bridegroom from the house. He went to the home of Chester Robinson, nearby, and spent the night there. This morning, after endeavoring to effect a reconciliation, the aged bridegroom returned to the Soldiers' home.

LOT OF THE NEGRO GOOD WHEN COMPARED TO JEW

Booker T. Washington Warns His Race to Shake Off Its Grievance.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, Aug. 19.—Booker T. Washington was the central figure at today's session of the National Negro Business League. In his address he said:

I am glad to see the black man is beginning to appreciate and take advantage of the opportunities for commercial and business development in this country. It is much wiser for us to embrace opportunities than grievances. The world soon gets tired of the man or the race with a grievance. We must learn to be bigger than those who would insult us. We must learn to hold up our heads and march bravely forward, in spite of obstacles and discouragements.

We shall succeed in winning our way into the confidence and esteem of the American people first in proportion as we show ourselves valuable to the community in which we live, in all the common callings, in connection with the welfare of the state, and in the manifestation of the highest character. The community does not fear as a rule the vote of the man, no matter what his color, who is a taxpayer. It is not the negro who owns a successful business, or works at a trade, who is charged with crime.

While we are in many cases surrounded with disadvantages, when we compare our condition and opportunities with those of the Jew in many parts of Europe, it is easy to see that almost every opportunity denied the Jews is open to us.

GREETINGS SENT TO THE NEW POPE

Delegates to Benevolent Convention Send Message to Pius X. and Ask Blessing.

THE ORDER IS PROSPEROUS

Reports of Officers Show That Over Two Millions Have Been Paid Out in 33 Years in Benefits—Officers to Be Elected Today.

With the reports of the principal officers read and disposed of, and all committees ready to give their decisions, the convention of the Irish Catholic Benevolent union, which was called to order yesterday morning at the Monongahela house, is well under way. It is expected that the last session will be held this afternoon.

The opening day was most auspicious. Before continuing for business the 50 delegates marched in a body to the Church of St. Mary of Mercy, where mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Walsh,

JOHN E. DAVIS.
Secretary of the I. C. B. U.

pastor of that church. In the afternoon the Rt. Rev. Regis Canevin, coadjutor bishop, addressed the convention, after which a message was sent to Pope Pius X. It was as follows:

"To His Holiness, Pius X., Rome, Italy:

"The Irish Catholic Benevolent Union of the United States, in convention, send greetings. Wishes long and happy reign. Begs blessing.

(Signed) "DANIEL DUFFY, "President."

Several constitutional amendments are contemplated which will provide for a sick and death benefit. This matter was referred to the committee on constitutional amendments, which acted last night and will report this morning. The question of striking out the word "Irish" may be re-opened during this convention, but it is apt to be defeated.

The union held two sessions yesterday and will hold the same number today. Officers will be elected this afternoon and the next place of meeting selected. Daniel Duffy, president, and J. E. Davis, secretary, will stand for re-election. The vice presidents, two in number, will not be here and will likely not be re-elected. T. J. Foley, the treasurer, will also not likely run. Shamokin, Pa., and Providence, R. I., stand at the head of the list as the next convention cities.

During the afternoon session yesterday the executive committee recommended that the constitution be changed so that the unions would not have to pay a fine upon failure to care for one of its members in distress.

Secretary Davis in his annual report showed that there are 184 societies, with a membership of 13,000. During the year $85,000 was paid out for sick benefits and $20,000 for death benefits. A gain of 264 members was made during the year. Since the formation of the union, 33 years ago, over $2,200,000 has been paid out in sick and death benefits.

The report of the treasurer, T. K. Foley, showed that the total receipts for the year were $8,004, and that the expenditures were $2,452.

Last night the delegates were taken to Kennywood park and tonight a trip up the Monongahela river will be made. The Pittsburgh committee is composed of:

H. P. McIntyre, William Kane, James Keefe, M. J. Dooley, Thomas Corcoran, Peter Nellis, H. Boes, David Quinlan, J. Rapp, Thomas Nellis, J. J. McFadden, Daniel O'Neil, Mrs. John Flinn, Miss Margaret Maras, Miss Therese Geist, Mrs. William Kane, Mrs. C. Seltzel, Miss M. Griffin, Mrs. M. Woodmansee, Miss Loftus, Miss Rose Shields, Miss Mary Shields, Miss Sadie Sullivan, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Linny, Miss Lizzie Brannigan, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Owen Murphy, Miss Fowler, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Wyman, Mrs. Mulligan and Mrs. Coleman.

BLUE LAW APPEALS.

Courts to Pass on Suits Brought Against Wilkinsburg Ice Makers.

The quarter session court of Allegheny county will be called upon to interpret a feature of the Pennsylvania blue laws. Yesterday Attorney H. E. Carmack, on behalf on the Penn Ice Company of Wilkinsburg, filed appeals in the 22 suits brought against stockholders in the concern and the employes before Justice J. J. Walker for violating the Sabbath in Wilkinsburg. The appellants were each fined $25 and costs.

The cases will go on the next argument list and are likely not to be heard before November. Ice-making, it is claimed, must continue through seven days of the week and is, therefore regarded as work of necessity.

BACKED OVER EMBANKMENT CAUSING WOMAN'S DEATH

UNIONTOWN, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special)—While passing through Anita today with her daughter, Mrs. Conroy and a little granddaughter, the horse driven by Mrs. William Couch of Rossiter, became frightened at a locomotive and backed over an embankment 35 feet. The horse and the vehicle fell on top of the occupants, and Mrs. Couch sustained injuries from which she died, and Mrs. Conroy and the child were severely hurt and were taken to the house of Dr. Benson in a critical condition.

SAYS HE RECOGNIZED TROUSERS ON THE MAN

Daniel Maitt, aged 26, colored, of No. 1036 Basin alley, was arrested in a pool room at Sixth and Wylie avenues yesterday afternoon by Detectives Leff and Cole. He will have to explain where he got the trousers he had at the time of his arrest. Several days ago John Curpert of State alley, informed Superintendent of Detectives McQuaid that his wardrobe had been robbed of $100 worth of clothing. Yesterday Curspert saw a man on Wylie avenue wearing his trousers and notified the detective bureau, resulting in the arrest of Maitt.

NEW INSPECTION FOR OHIO NATIONAL GUARD

War Department Advises Gov. Nash With Reference to Companies Which Failed.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWARK, O., Aug. 19.—The various organizations in the division encampment of the Ohio National Guard devote the morning to battalion drill and in the afternoon the drill is in regiment formation.

The Hon. J. J. Sullivan, president of the Cleveland chamber of commerce, was a visitor at the camp, and after the Fifth regiment had assembled to go on the field for dress parade, he presented Col. Charles X. Zimmerman with a beautiful silk flag.

Gov. Nash received a telegram from the war department today advising a new inspection of those companies which did not pass at the recent inspection. Seventeen failed to come up to requirements and these companies will be inspected at a time set by the colonels of the regiments. The other 13 companies were equipped with the new regulation Krag-Jorgensen rifles.

The battalion of engineers from Cleveland have been busy making roads for the troops to use in going to drills and parades. Some of these roads involved deep cuts and heavy fills, but the engineers accomplished the work with great dispatch. In these battalions are men who in private life earn from $3,000 to $6,000 a year, but they worked with pick and shovel in the hot sun, as if they were thus earning their daily bread.

TWO THROATS CUT

Woman Is Dead and Man in Hospital as Result of Tragedy at Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special)—Laura Taylor, colored, lies dead tonight with her throat cut. The deed was committed, it is alleged, by her lover, Frank Davis, also colored, who cut his throat and is now in the hospital.

This morning the woman ran through the hall into the parlor of the Patterson house shouting, "Frank Davis has cut my throat with a razor. The tragedy so frightened all the others in the house that they jumped through the windows. An hour later officers entered the deserted house and found Davis lying on a bed gasping for breath, but it is not believed the injury is fatal. Davis claims the Taylor woman cut her throat after slashing him with the razor.

WILL NOT TAKE BRIDGE OFF BUILDERS' HANDS

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—A serious delay in opening traffic over the new Marietta bridge is caused by the refusal of the company to take it off the hands of the American Bridge Company. It is claimed that the bridge is out of line a third of an inch. An attempt was made to run a car over the bridge today but it was stopped by the American Bridge Company until the matter can be fully settled.

Stockholders Sue Company.

LISBON, O., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—The dissolution of the East Liverpool Potteries Company is causing trouble among the stockholders. E. J. Owen charges that an attempt is being made to defraud him of his half interest in the East End pottery in East Liverpool. In common pleas court Judge W. W. Hole has issued a temporary restraining order enjoining the company from making any further disposition of the half interest in question.

CONGRESSIONAL BERTH DECLINED BY GOULD

Says He Cannot Spare Time from Business to Mix in Politics.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A report has been current in political circles for several days to the effect that George J. Gould might be induced to make the race for congress in the Third New Jersey district, which includes his home in Lakewood. It can be stated authoritatively that Mr. Gould will not go to congress, though it is true that he has been approached on the subject, and it has been intimated to him that he could have a nomination which would be the equivalent of an election if he would accept. Mr. Gould said today:

"I have no intention of running for congress. I take an interest in politics just as every American citizen should, but I am in no sense a politician and have no ambition in the way of officeholding.

"Indeed, how could it be possible for me to go to Washington and devote the time to government affairs necessary for a member of congress. My time is already fully occupied by business affairs, which cannot be neglected without serious loss, not alone to myself, but to many others, to whom I attend in the relation practically of a trustee. Urgent business demands all the time I have at command, not infrequently keeping me at work for 24 hours out of 24 and I have no idea of adding to my burdens by attempting public office. The New Jersey delegation in congress can get along very well without me."

THE WORLD'S PACING RECORD IS BROKEN BY DAN PATCH AT BRIGHTON BEACH

Smashes Star Pointer's Mark of 1:59 1-4, Held Since 1890, by Doing Distance in 1:59.

STIFF BREEZE STRIKES HIS FACE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Dan Patch broke the world's record for pacers by pacing a mile in 1:59 at Brighton Beach today.

It was a most magnificent performance and seemed an impossibility, the wind and track considered. There was a stiff breeze blowing, which struck the horses fairly in the face. The track was a little slow, but the effect of the wind was discounted by sending a runner in front, while the second runner galloped alongside. In view of the adverse conditions the announcement was made that he would go against the track record of 2:00¾. But would also try to beat the champion record of 1:59¼ held since 1890 by Star Pointer.

When the unbeaten pacer, for Dan Patch never lost a race, appeared on the track, he was loudly cheered and after a few preliminary warm-ups he got the word. With a swift, frictionless stride he shot from the wire and seemed to be determined to push his nose into the flying sulky in front of him, which the thoroughbred in the shafts was steadily pulling ahead. On swept the famous pacer to the quarter in 29¾ and when the half mile post was flashed past in :58¾ a great volume of cheers went up from the vast crowd. Then came the difficult top turn, and the slowest quarter of the mile ensued, the three-quarters being done in 1:29¾. But down the stretch as swift and steady as a locomotive he came and as he shot under the wire the watches stopped a 1:59.

The new champion was not at all distressed, and looked as if he will be able before the season is over to beat his own record. The betting was even money either for or against his beating the record.

The opening event was a dash of a mile and a half for the 2:07 pacers, for which the ar[illegible] but fast Beauseant was the choice at 5 to 6, but Locanda won easily. He was a 4 to 1 shot.

For the $5,000 Kentucky purse for 3-year-old trotters, Ethel's Pride was the favorite at $100 to $50. Mary Gage led in the first heat all the way home, with Ethel's Pride close up. The finish was most exciting, the favorite losing by a head. She won the next three heats with a little to spare. Summaries:

Hole Which Formed in the Sand Caused All the Trouble—Not a Single Life Lost Despite Many Lives Placed in Jeopardy.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 19.

This has been the biggest day of the season for bathing and tonight the guards report that they rescued 120 persons from drowning. Over 50 persons were given assistance and some very narrow escapes from drowning were made. At one time over 20 persons were in danger of drowning, yet the guards managed to get all to shore in safety with the assistance of some bathers who kept cool during the excitement.

Some of those who were rescued are: Miss Marshall and two friends, of Shenandoah, Pa.; Miss Vicia Wedlock, South Fork, Pa., Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Snyder of Pittsburgh.

The cause of all the trouble was a hole which had formed yesterday and became deeper today. The beach at this point has been very safe for bathing until yesterday, and persons in bathing could not realize any danger until they were swept into the hole. The guards anticipate considerable trouble tomorrow and will take all the precautions possible to cope with any emergency that may arise.

PERSONALS

Col. Willis J. Hulings of Oil City, commander of the Sixteenth regiment, N. G. P., spent last night at the Monongahela House. He is en route from his home to New York, where he goes as one of a committee to inspect a clay model of the statue of Gen. Alexander Le Roy Hawkins, late colonel of the Tenth regiment during the Philippine war. "We shall see the model on Friday," Colonel Hulings said last evening. "The others on the committee are Col. Robert E. Wright of the Tenth, Mayor James G. Wyman of Allegheny, Col. A. J. Logan of Pittsburgh, and Col. W. E. Thompson of the Fourteenth. The purpose of the inspection is to see that the statue shall be true to life. The features and the uniform must be those the friends of General Hawkins knew."

Miss Amanda Vierheller, who has spent two months visiting her old Pittsburgh home and friends, left last night on the Pittsburgh limited of the Pennsylvania for New York, whence she sails for Germany. For the last four years Miss Vierheller has been studying music in Berlin. Another year will be spent in Berlin, when a grand debut will engage her attention. After the completion of her studies she expects to return to America and enter upon an operatic career. She is a sister of Mrs. W. C. Gundelfinger.

The travel to New York on both the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania railroads last night, on account of the yacht races, was very heavy. On the Pittsburgh limited of the Pennsylvania two extra sleepers were in use, and every berth was occupied. Three extra sleepers were added to the Philadelphia train connecting at Philadelphia for New York. The coming race was all the talk in the groups that gathered about the trains at the Union station. Otto Holden, a New York broker, who was a passenger on the Pennsylvania limited last evening for Chicago, voiced his sentiments thus: "There has been no yacht race that raised nearly so much interest as this one. Sir Thomas Lipton's sportsmanlike conduct and his perseverance have made many friends who would not be so much loss to see the America's cup pass to him. His chances are considered excellent, too, by many who are authorities."

OSBALDESTEN IS BLOODED ONE

Says He Is Offspring of a Distinguished Father and Never Used Alias.

WAS NOT A BIBLE STUDENT

So far as could be learned "Prof." Edwin Turner Osbaldesten—those interested will note that "Turner" has been substituted for "Theobald"—favored no one yesterday with letters defending his course and accusing Mrs. Frank W. Lugas of this city, the woman formerly known as Louisa Weise, and with whom he at one time lived. Whether the professor's well of English has been pumped dry by his ready pen, or whether he is merely waiting until he has received answers to the copious missives which he has been showering upon Mrs. Lugas and others, is not known.

In New York yesterday Osbaldesten was highly indignant at an insinuation that he was traveling or had traveled under an assumed name. In a letter to Magistrate E. G. Segley he ascribed nine aliases to Mrs. Lugas, whom he has been persecuting, but grew eloquent when defending himself against a similar charge.

The following special dispatch was received last night from The Gazette's special correspondent at New York:

"Dr. Edwin Turner Osbaldesten indignantly denies a story printed in a New York morning paper that he is traveling under an alias.

"'I was born in England,' he said. 'My father was Sir Joshua Osbaldesten and my mother was a daughter of Admiral Turner. I have a brother now living in England, who is a retired officer of the British army. Another brother is a prominent physician in Brisbane, Australia. Of the 45 descendants of Sir Joshua Osbaldesten nine are physicians.

"'I ran away from my home in England because my father was a very severe man. He beat me unmercifully for failure to learn certain chapters of the Bible to be repeated to him on Sunday morning. I have traveled all over the world, but never have I used an alias. I have always been Edwin Turner Osbaldesten and always will be.'

Mrs. Lugas said last night that the professor had told her that he had adopted aliases at various times. He commonly said that his name was Osbaldesten, but sometimes he told her that his name was Turner, and at other times he mentioned other names as his right one.

"The last time I saw him," she said, "he told me Sir Joshua is a new thing to me," she said. "To all his grandlcugent talk he never told me anything like that. As for the aliases which he ascribes to me, all but one is a figment of his imagination. Some time ago, upon his advice I consented to be known as Mrs. L. W. Day, a sort of trade name, only in connection with my work as a masseur and manufacturer of toilet lotions, a business in which my husband, Mr. Lugas, and I are at present engaged. The professor had cards printed with that name, and distributed them, recommending me to people who might require my services. I never used any other alias, and where the professor got those he accuses me of going under, I don't know, unless he evolved them from his imagination."

Mrs. Lugas said she had received a letter yesterday from her husband. He was in Philadelphia, where he went on Tuesday. He was while that he had told Osbaldesten's doings before the postoffice authorities in Philadelphia, the postal district to which Pittsburgh belongs, and he felt confident that the postoffice department would at least bar Osbaldesten's letters from the mails.

The Rev. Dr. John C. Boyd.

REV. JOHN C. BOYD DEAD.

Well-Known Pastor Passes Away at His Home in Mt. Lebanon.

The Rev. Dr. John C. Boyd, for over 43 years pastor of the St. Clair United Presbyterian church, and the oldest pastor in point of service in that denomination, died yesterday morning at his home in Mt. Lebanon. He had been confined to his home since the first of the year, suffering from mental paralysis, and his death had been expected for some time by his family. Dr. Boyd was one of the most widely known ministers in this section, and during his career served his denomination in many capacities.

In the death of Dr. Boyd the last pastor in service in the denomination, who had the same charge when the union of the Associate and Associate Reformed churches took place in 1858, passes away. Dr. Boyd was born near Latrobe, Westmoreland county, Pa., January 6, 1822, and was the son of William Boyd, a farmer of Westmoreland county. He received his academic training at Jacksonville, Indiana county, Pa., and at Jefferson college, Canonsburg, graduating from the latter institution in 1851. In the same year he entered the Allegheny Theological seminary and graduated in 1858. He was then licensed by the Blairsville presbytery April 14, 1858, and was ordained by the Monongahela presbytery. Shortly after he received a call to the Mt. Lebanon church and took charge of the congregation on April 14, 1858 and continued as pastor without interruption since that time.

Dr. Boyd was a member of the church board of publication from 1869 to 1878, and secretary of the board for some time after the latter date. From 1881 to 1885 he was editor of the Evangelical Repository, and was associate editor of the United Presbyterian from 1885 to 1889. He received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Franklin college in 1884. In 1889 Dr. Boyd was moderator of the Pittsburgh synod. He was a director in the Allegheny theological seminary from 1875 to 1876, and from 1880 to 1885, and since 1891 he was a trustee of the seminary from 1869 to 1872.

Dr. Boyd was a delegate to the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance of 1877, held in Edinburgh, Scotland, and in 1896, and also to the Ecumenical Missionary conference of 1901. Dr. Boyd was also an author of some note. Among his publications are his "Anniversary Discourses of 1867 and 1901, History of the Synod of Pittsburgh, "History of the Second Associate Reformed Presbytery of Pennsylvania," "Change of the Sabbath from the Seventh to the First Day," and a Biographical Sketch of Dr. D. F. Kerr.

Dr. Boyd was twice married, his first wife being Miss Mattie McFarland, third daughter of Col. John McFarland, who died in 1869. Mrs. Boyd died 10 years later, leaving one son, William M. Boyd, now a resident of Newton, Kan. Dr. Boyd later married Miss Margaret A. Lindsay, only daughter of James Lindsay of Allegheny county, and by her had five children: Myra L., Jay Calvin, James Howard, Jane and Lois Edith. Of his children one daughter is still at home. Two of them having probably gone to Heaven as missionaries. Boyd, during his pastoral career, was a prominent figure at the meetings of United Presbyterian ministers, and never was known to be absent except when ill. Last May he was nominated for the highest office in the gift of his denomination, having been nominated for the office of moderator of the General Assembly which met in Allegheny. He came within a few votes of securing the office.

Frederick William Neubert.

Frederick William Neubert, 63 years old, a former business man of Pittsburgh, and a well-known resident of Millvale, died Tuesday afternoon at his home, No. 170 Ohio street, Millvale, after an illness from a complication of diseases of over two years. Mr. Neubert was born in Germany and came to this country when 15 years old. He settled in Allegheny, where he engaged in the manufacture of artificial flowers and trimmings. He later entered the employ of the Armstrong Cork Company, with which he subsequently became a member. After being identified with the company for about 25 years he withdrew and founded the firm of S. Neubert & Co., handling this line of business. The firm later consolidated with Falck Bros., forming the firm of Falck Bros. & Co., with headquarters in Wood street. About 6 years ago Mr. Neubert went to the Methodist sanitarium in the hope of recuperating his health. He later went to Battle Creek, Mich., returning home slightly over a week ago. Mr. Neubert was president of the Verein Prohsinn and treasurer of the Third Ward Building & Loan association. He was a member of Schiller lodge, A. O. U. W. for 21 years, and of the German Lutheran church. He is survived by four children—Mrs. William W. Wilson, Mrs. J. Noubert, George A. Neubert, Aurelia Neubert, Mrs. Louis F. Brecht and Frederick E. Neubert, all residents of this county.

Capt. David Owens Buried.

Capt. David Owens, late captain of No. 3 engine company in the Pittsburgh bureau of fire, was buried yesterday afternoon in Homewood cemetery. Services were conducted over his remains at his late home, No. 2012 Forbes street, by the Rev. Dr. Hay, pastor emeritus of the First Congregational church. Many members of the fire bureau attended the services. The active pallbearers were Son Hey, Delbert Owens, Joseph Wood, John Ryan, John Evans and Walter Black. The honorary pallbearers were Chief Robert McKinley, Captain Michael Hannigan, Captain James Kane and Captain Thomas Dunlap. The remains at the grave were conducted by Brushton lodge No. 1167, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Mrs. Walter H. Charnley.

Mrs. Mary Vernon Charnley, 48 years old, wife of Walter H. Charnley, died at her home in Beaver street, Sewickley, yesterday morning, after an illness of several months. She was born in Louisville, Ky., and since 1880 the family has lived in Sewickley. Mrs. Charnley was a member of the Sewickley Presbyterian church. German Engineers Will Be in Session at Monongahela House for Three Days.

WASHINGTON IS SELECTED

Delegates Name Society of That City as Head of National Association and the Pittsburgh Section Gives Way—Splendid Entertainment.

For the 20th time the leading German and German-American engineers of this country met in annual session yesterday, when the convention of the National Association of German-American Technologists assembled at the Monongahela house. During the three days the 150 delegates are in session they will discuss technical subjects relating to mining, civil, electrical and mechanical engineering, and inspect some of the principal industries in this district.

The first business of the present convention was held yesterday morning at the residence of William Heeren, a member of the Pittsburgh society. This was termed a "session of delegates" and was held for the purpose of deciding engineering problems that have been presented during the year and delegating the next "head section." Instead of having a staff of national executive officers the affairs of the association are conducted in turn by each of the seven societies. Pittsburgh was the head section for 1902, and at the session yesterday morning the Washington society was selected to conduct the management for 1904. Washington will also likely be selected as the city for the next convention. The affairs of the association during the Pittsburgh administration were satisfactorily handled in every respect.

The convention proper will meet this morning at the Monongahela house, when topics pertaining to engineering will be discussed. German only will be spoken, and for that matter only German-speaking engineers have been invited. C. Mercader of the Howard axle works, will deliver an address on "Hollow Pressed Axles." After this session the visitors will be taken to the plant of the Pressed Steel Car Company, Allegheny, and the plant of the Pennsylvania Malleable Iron Company.

Tonight at the Monongahela house the Pittsburgh society will give a banquet in honor of the visiting delegates. The toasts and speakers will be as follows: "The Association," by F. W. von Egloffstein of Brooklyn, "The Guests," by a Chicago delegate; "The Ladies," by H. Krapp of Philadelphia; "Technique and Its Followers," by O. Boettger of Baltimore; "The Founders of the Association," by William Musser of New York; "America, Our Second Fatherland," by J. Ulke, Washington; "Our Old Fatherland," by E. F. Harder of Pittsburgh.

Tomorrow the tour of inspection will be continued and will embrace trips to the Carnegie Steel Company's plants and that of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. At night the delegates and friends will be sumptuously and uniquely entertained at the residence of William Heeren, Negley avenue. Saturday, the last day of the convention, Saturday, will be devoted to trips to the plant of the Allaghemy Plate Glass Company at Hite station, the McKeesport Tin Plate Company and the Idlewood mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. The ladies have been taken in hand by a special committee and will be taken to the plant of the H. J. Heinz Company, the parks, libraries and theaters.

The National association was formed in 1884. The Pittsburgh society was organized in 1895, with 25 charter members. It has a membership of not more than 20 men, while it now has 48 and the National about 1,200 members, representing the following cities: New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn.

JUDGES TO HAVE MORE PRIVACY

Benches in the Criminal and Common Pleas Courts Have Been Rearranged.

BAD BOYS ARE REPRIMANDED

When the different courts open for business in September, the lawyers especially will be surprised at the changes in the arrangement of several of the court rooms. During the vacation season improvements at a cost of many thousands of dollars have been made.

The changes in the criminal court room and the rooms of common pleas court No. 2 are especially apparent, both courts having been so arranged that the judges will hereafter enjoy greater privacy in passing to and from the bench. The bench in the smaller room of criminal court formerly faced the rear wall, but it has been so now the front is towards Diamond street. In the entry between the two court rooms a door has been cut into the judges' chamber and those who sit upon the bench in the smaller room can reach there from chambers without passing through a crowd of spectators.

In the larger criminal court room the bench has been moved nearer to the wall, thus giving three feet more room for lawyers and spectators.

In the larger room of common pleas No. 2 the bench will face Grant street. It formerly faced Diamond street. The space reserved for the spectators has been paved with rubber tile, the judges having contended that such a change would prevent disease. In the smaller room of that court the bench will face Ross street.

Judge Marshall Brown held a session of juvenile court yesterday and heard the cases of several boys all of whom were sent home.

Joseph Hallcran, 12 years old, had taken a pocketbook from a woman and Judge Brown had decided to send him to Morganza, but he yielded to the pleading of the boy's mother and the child was given another chance. William Beck, charged with having stolen 15 cents from Mary Fitz, arrested for stealing some milk, were both restored to their parents, having promised to mend their ways.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A statement was filed in the case of David Morgan against Frank Wilson and Jacob Goldberg, mining property in Elizabeth township. The plaintiff alleges the defendant made an entry into his property and took 100,000 bushels of coal, for which he demands $150.

Robert Goobels filed a statement in his suit against the Carnegie Steel Company for $20,000 damages. He was employed by the company as gas fitter and was ordered by Superintendent to do some dangerous work, which resulted in the bursting of a pipe and injury to the plaintiff.

A statement was filed in the suit of Frank Burns against the Park Amusement Company, an action to recover $10,000 damages. The boy alleges he had his right ankle fractured by accident while riding in a car in the "Riddle School of Mines," an amusement enterprise at Calhoun park.

Executions were issued yesterday as follows: George K. Gihill vs. Henry Lowenstein, $307.50; Jonas Hinkerman vs. Samuel Binarsult, $650; William Selly vs. A. T. Shaw, et al., $178.24; Minnie Farnes vs. A. Engle, $181.12; Mary Heath vs. Joshua Shipman, $181.12; Mary Heath vs. Joshua Shipman, $181.12; Dr. C. C. Hershman vs. Clara Turner, $300; Caroline Fiths vs. Estella L. Kirkland, $287; C. Simpson, use, vs. Nina Robertson, $287.51; Mary Heath vs. Joshua T. Buck, $1,621.25. William L. Sloan vs. Frank Connor, et al., $1,023.02. H. P. L. Spear, $315; E. Verney vs. William and M. England, $160.

CUPID IS QUITE BUSY AMONG 'PHONE GIRLS

Turtle Creek's Central Is Seriously Interfered With by Matrimonial Ventures.

Cupid is working overtime at the Bell telephone exchange in Turtle Creek, and yesterday for the third time in less than two months a vacancy was caused in the force of operators by a wedding. Manager C. Z Southern has now employed a 17-year-old girl for the position and exacted a promise from her that she will not marry until she is at least 21 years old.

Miss Daisy Samson, the relief operator at the exchange, and J. E. Gans, a clerk in the Westinghouse Electric Company's office, were married early in July and soon after Miss Maud Postlethwaith, the chief operator, applied for a leave of absence, which was granted and she was married to Roy Wellord, freight agent of the Bessemer railroad at Port Perry.

Miss Britomart Umstot of Wilmerding was given the position of chief operator and no particular attention was paid to the two previous marriages of the operatory until Tuesday, when Miss Umstot informed Manager Southern that she was to be married to Robert J. Steward of Wilkinsburg, chief clerk at the Pitcairn transfer yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. N. B. Tannehill, pastor of the Wilmerding Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning and the young couple left for Atlantic City and other eastern points.

Oakmont Children's Party.

Mrs. William McConway, Jr., was hostess at an enjoyable children's party on Tuesday afternoon for her little daughter, Miss Isabel McConway. The affair was planned in honor of little Miss McConway's 5th birthday anniversary. About 20 lads and lasses were present during the hours from 2 o'clock until 5.

SOCIETY

WITH Miss Mary Marsh DeHaven and James William Simms as principals, a very pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of the bride, Miss Rachael Bryant DeHaven was her sister's only attendant, the bridegroom having Clarke Laughlin as his best man and Charles DeHaven and George K. Leslie as ushers. An exquisite creation of white batiste and lace composed the bridal gown, the honor maid's gown being of dainty pale green mousseline garnitured in lace. Both young ladies carried beautiful bouquets of white roses, the appointments throughout the house aiding in the color scheme of green and white.

White asters combined with green were used principally in decorating. The green walled parlor looked particularly artistic, the decorations and furnishings of the apartment harmonizing softly, one with the other. Asters banked the large mantel, ferns adding to the beauty, while the fireplace was filled with green foliage. Chandeliers were decked with green, and numerous palms about the house lent grace to the scene. The centerpiece on the bride's table was also of white blossoms, a profusion of greens being used effectively in the dining room.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac DeHaven of Monterey street, old residents of Allegheny. Mr. Simms is a former Washington man, now in business in Pittsburgh. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. D. S. Kennedy of the Arch Street Presbyterian church, Allegheny. Many friends were witnesses of the ceremony, the hour being 8:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Simms left for an eastern wedding trip last night. They will visit Washington among a number of interesting points. On their return the young couple will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. DeHaven in Monterey street.

Large East End Wedding.

Miss Emma Elise Flaccus and Robert Patterson, Jr., were married last evening in the presence of many friends. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward Flaccus of Solota street and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Flaccus of Stratford avenue, Dormont. The ceremony had been set for the evening which took place in the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. R. S. McKee was the officiating clergyman. The bride was attended by a maid of honor, Miss Minnie Flaccus, and two maids, Miss Vallie Logue and Miss Anna McLaren. William Neckerman acted as best man, while the ushers were John McAllister and Frank Newton. The bride was gowned in white liberty net hung over moiré, with lace trimmings. Miss Flaccus wore a modish gown of Persian lawn, the same materials composing the gowns of the other attendants. The bridal veil was caught with a cluster of valley lilies, roses and lilies forming the bouquet. Pink roses were carried by the honor maid, while the bridal carried Bridesmaid white carnations. The church decorations were in green, pink and white. After the ceremony a supper was served at the home of the bride, covers being laid for 12. On dates after September 1 Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will be at home at 6 Edmiralty street, Wilkinsburg. They are at present making a tour of the east.

LARKIN WAS GROUND IN WHEN FIGURING ON A PULVERIZER

"What can a pulverizer be?" communed Controller John B. Larkin with himself yesterday, as he gazed steadfastly at an item in the monthly bills of the bureau, showing that "one pulverizer" had been bought by the bureau. The controller got out the copies of the contract blanks for police bureau supplies, but nowhere could he find that bidders were expected to supply a "pulverizer."

"Can it be a new kind of policeman's club?" wondered the controller. "Isn't the present club or billy or revolver sufficient for the punishment of unruly citizens who resist arrest? I wonder how the pulverizer works."

"What is a pulverizer?" asked the controller of Superintendent of Police John P. McTighe, who shortly afterward dropped in in answer to a telephonic request from the controller. The superintendent went to the telephone and conversed with his headquarters for awhile. "The pulverizer is for the prisoners," he reported to the controller, a few minutes later.

"For the prisoners!" exclaimed the controller. "I hope prisoners are not treated cruelly under our reform administration, John."

"You know some years ago arrangements were made in the public safety building to furnish the prisoners with coffee and bread in the morning," said the superintendent. "The pulverizer grinds the coffee."

"Oh, a coffee mill?" said the controller.

"Yes," said the superintendent. "It's a trade name used by the manufacturer."

Local Live Stock Business of the B. & O. Is to Be Improved

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is preparing to increase its live stock business in Pittsburgh, and special attention will be paid to faster and better service from the west. The opening of the new stock yards at Herrs Island will give the Baltimore & Ohio better facilities in this district. Supt. B. W. Duer of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio and E. F. Eohb, superintendent of the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania, yesterday made a joint inspection of the Herrs Island yards and the approaches. The Baltimore & Ohio will use the tracks of the Pennsylvania to reach the yards, and before connection is made there will be a number of details to arrange. Third Vice President C. L. Potter of the Baltimore & Ohio, while in the city last week, went over these matters with General Manager Atterbury of the Pennsylvania, but the working out of the arrangements was left to Supt. Duer and Eohb. It is the expectation of the officials of the Baltimore & Ohio to be able to take all of their stock to the new yards as soon as they are opened. September 1 has been the day set for the opening and Supt. Duer said yesterday that orders would soon be issued for the change from East Liberty.

Lake Erie Answers Petition.

That demoralization of the movement of coal will result if the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad is made to comply with the demands of the Clyde Coal Company in a point made by the Lake Erie road in answer filed yesterday to the Clyde Company's amended petition for a rule to show cause why a writ of peremptory mandamus should not issue. In the answer the railroad company gives evidence that it is unable to supply many of its largest and regular customers and that in refusing the demands of Superintendent of Mines it has been upheld by the interstate commerce commission. The suit of the coal company is to obtain cars to reach Clyde by a siding. The answer sets forth that the siding is one-ended, that it leaves the main line at a heavy curve and that the main line has a heavy grade, which would make heavy freight traffic and that loading coal at that point would be impracticable, dangerous and expensive. The railroad denies that it discontinued deliveries upon the request of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company. In addition the railroad in its answer says that the Clyde Company has machinery for shipping coal by water and that shipments are made only when the stage of the river admits.

Shop Improvements are Progressing

The shop improvements on the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania on the South Side will be completed by October 1, when the division will then be able to take care of its own repair work. An electrical power plant is now being built, which will supply power to all of the shops on the division in this district. A wood working shop is also being constructed which when completed will give employment to about 100 extra men.

Railroad Notes.

Robert Finney, general agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, was in Youngstown yesterday.

J. B. Yohe, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, spent yesterday in Youngstown and Niles.

D. C. Stewart, passenger trainmaster of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania, went to Philadelphia last night.

A. J. Thomas, assistant to the general superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore & Ohio, is in the city.

J. H. P. Hugarta, general manager of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh. He was on his way home from the east.

Circulars have been issued to the effect that the Baltimore & Ohio and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will receive freight for the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for delivery at New Castle.

W. B. Blackburn, a clerk in the offices of the division superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio, is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. He became ill previous to the encampment of the Eighteen regiment, of one of the companies of which he is first sergeant.

Fred H. Torrans has received from the board of trade of Redlands, Cal., a large photographic picture of that pretty town. The picture is so distinctly a work of art that Col. Tristram Ellis had it framed. It measures, inclusive of frame, 4x7 feet. It is on exhibition at the Fifth avenue offices of the Wabash.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

A dispatch from Vancouver, B. C., says: "The formation of the big silver-lead miners' pool has already had important effect. The smelters thought that with the $7 bounty on lead they could easily raise the charges, and the Hall Mines concern at Nelson went so far as to notify an increase from $15 to $19 a ton on Slocan ore. But the smelter was informed that if it wanted $19 a ton it could go without ore, and it promptly gave in and the old price remains."

Labor troubles are affecting mining operations in the Cripple Creek and other western camps.

The Marcella Mining & Milling Company, in the Montezuma mining section, which has been driving a development tunnel for some months, is in fine ore. A shipment was made during the week to the Breckenridge branch sampler of the Colorado-Pacific-Dillingham Ore Purchasing Company that is confidently expected to run from 125 to 200 ounces in silver.

If the platinum finds in Lardeau gold fields along Poplar creek hold up to expectations the find will arouse a good deal more interest among geologists besides of the platinum discovery than because of the fabulous gold quartz discovered there. Platinum is now one of the rarest metals found in America, and is constantly getting rarer. It is valued at $20 an ounce—just a shade less than gold.

A dispatch from Helena says: "The Cataract Mining Company has just let a contract for another 1,050 feet of tunnel, which will make a total of 3,500 feet, and a depth of 1,500 feet. Preparations are being made for the speedy erection of the 200-ton smelter, contracted for, and which is on the road from Denver. The site on Jack creek, nine miles from Basin, and near the upper forks of the Button, one of the company's leading mines, is cleared and graded, the foundation is in and lumber is being hauled.

The Evening Mining Stock, recently bonded by the Pittsburgh & Montana company, is being developed. A steam hoist has been placed on the property and a 50-foot three compartment shaft will be sunk.

Mining claims located on the Indian reservations of the United States are not valid. Judge Hanford of the United States court has handed down a decision in Spokane to that effect. The decision affects many thousands of dollars' worth of mining claims now located on the reservations, and the mining men all over the west have been watching the case.

STEEL COMPANY ANSWERS.

Susquehanna Concern Claims to Be Solvent, Notwithstanding Annual Deficit.

LANCASTER, PA., Aug. 19.—The answer to the bill in equity filed here on last Thursday against the Susquehanna Iron and Steel Company was recorded today. It denies that a large portion of the company's merchandise and quick assets were shown by the treasurer's report to be pledged to secure bills payable and accounts amounting to $277,004, but admits that since the report was made a loan has been secured and some of the company's manufactured product and quick assets pledged as collateral, but asserts that the transaction does not interfere with the company's business.

It is stated that since its incorporation in 1880 the company has paid dividends amounting to $485,000, and at no time passed a dividend except for the six months ending June 30 last, which was due to strike conditions and the repudiation of contracts. The business for the year amounted to $2,000,000, with a deficit of only $16,000 under adverse circumstances.

In admitting the depreciation of the stock from $8 to $1.07 per share it is claimed the company is solvent nevertheless, and can meet and provide for its current indebtedness and successfully conduct the business.

WALL STREET STOCKS ALL CLOSED LOWER

The Reaction Ranged from 2 to 6 Points and Was Continuous All Day—Local Securities Also Closed Lower.

By JOHN O. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market was apparently allowed to take its own course yesterday without interference from the powerful interests that have been the directing force of late. The result was a general reaction, the decline being continuous throughout the day and the closing prices being the lowest. The highest average level on the rally was reached last Friday. Since then several specialties have been advanced, presumably for the purpose of forcing shorts to cover, but this movement seems to have spent its force on Tuesday in the extraordinary activity and advance in Rock Island. The incident seemed to have frightened other shorts to cover, and yesterday this interest appeared to be eliminated from the market. Comparing closing prices yesterday with the highest of the day before, the extent of the reaction may be seen in the following:

	Dec'd.		Dec'd.
Amal. Copper	5⅞	St. Paul	6¾
U. S. Steel	2⅛	Mo. Pacific	4⅛
do pref	2⅜	Union Pacific	5⅜
American Sugar	3⅜	Reading	3⅝
Cent. C. & Iron	3½	Pennsylvania	2⅜
General Electric	3	N. Y. Central	2⅜
Consol. Gas	6¼	So. Pacific	4⅛
Atchison	5	Wabash pref	3½
Balt. & Ohio	8	Erie	5½
Rock Island	8⅝	Del. & Hudson	5¼
do pref	5⅝	Southern Ry.	2½

As a rule the lowest prices of the year were recorded on August 8 and 10. The recovery within less than a week ranged from 5 to 15 per cent. Yesterday's reaction wiped out about one-half of the gain. The weakest stocks yesterday were the so-called Standard Oil specialties, including Amalgamated Copper, which broke to 46½ and St. Paul, which broke to 141⅞. The Gould stocks were heavy. Missouri Pacific dropping to 93¼ and Wabash preferred to 34⅜. The grangers were also quite weak, Atchison declining to 60 and Rock Island to 28⅝. The quick reaction in United States Steel had considerable effect upon sentiment. The common declined to 22⅛ and the preferred to 71⅛, and both closed at the lowest. Other so-called Morgan stocks declined, Southern Railway to 22¼ and Reading to 54½. As stated, however, the declines were general and insiders were apparently doing nothing to check the reaction.

London was again a seller on balance, sentiment abroad being affected by the Macedonian situation. There was also a sharp reaction in the foreign copper market, the metal declining 15 shillings in London. The domestic copper market, however, remained firm at a further slight advance.

The action of the market yesterday has revived guessing as to the probable attitude of the Standard Oil interest, Wall street being firmly of the opinion that that interest has been and will continue to be the dominating factor. A little item of news which did not receive much attention, but which may be significant, related to the wheat movement. The primary receipts were reported at 1,209,000 bushels, as compared with 1,090,000 bushels for the corresponding day last year. This is the first time in weeks that receipts have been larger than for the corresponding day last year. In fact the movement has been very slow, sometimes falling 50 per cent below the figures for last year. On account of this backward movement, the call for money has been light thus far, but yesterday Chicago banks reported shipments of currency to southwestern points. If the grain movement now assumes normal proportions, it is reasonable to look for the drain of currency from the east to begin, and while the New York banks have a comparatively large surplus reserve, they are not in a position to increase their accommodation to Wall street and at the same time meet the demands of the west and south. Call money rates yesterday were easy at 1½@2 per cent. The sub-treasury paid out $690,000 on account of gold deposited at San Francisco, and since last Friday the banks have gained $846,000 net from this source.

Railroad earnings reported yesterday were all of a favorable character. For the second week in August Louisville & Nashville increased $64,000 gross, and Colorado Southern for the same week increased $14,000. The June report of Missouri Pacific showed an increase in net of $28,000, and Chicago & Alton for the same month reported an increase in net of $37,000.

There was a falling off in business on the local stock exchange yesterday, and the tone was reactionary, in sympathy with the weakness in the east. Pittsburgh Coal common was again the leader in point of activity, nearly 2,000 shares changing hands at 31 to 29⅞, the final sale being at 30, a net decline for the day of ½ per cent. The preferred stock also closed lower at 83½ bid, 85¾ asked. River Coal remained dull and neglected, the common selling to the extent of 100 shares at 10¼, and the preferred being quoted at 37½ bid, 38 asked. United States Steel common and preferred were fairly active, but prices followed very closely the fluctuations in the east, closing 1⅜ off for the common and 1½ off for the preferred. Crucible Steel common declined to 10¼ and closed at that price bid. The preferred closed at 72 bid, 72 ¾asked. Manufacturers Light & Heat at one time sold up to 35½, but it dropped a dollar and closed ⅜ lower at 34½. A small lot of Philadelphia Company sold at 41, but quotable lots were offered at 40½ at the close. The company made a good report for July, which is given in another column. Westinghouse Electric had a sharp reaction from 84½ to 82½, closing at the lowest. Airbrake was firm at 148. Two lots of Pittsburgh Stove & Range sold at auction, 400 shares of the common at 4 and 600 shares of the preferred at 17, both unchanged from the last previous sales.

There was very little doing in the bank and trust company shares and prices remained unchanged. Iron City Trust sold at 140 and more was offered at the same price. The announcement of its new acquisition had no effect upon Guarantee Title & Trust, the stock being offered at 200. There was nothing doing in bonds and prices were steady and unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is not often that there is a decline of from 2 to 5 per cent in the stock market without even news or rumor to account for the movement. Yet that is what happened in Wall street yesterday, stocks being weak from start to finish, and good stocks suffering equally with the bad. The elimination of the short interest probably had something to do with the decline. The opposition of bankers to any sustained bull movement at the present time is no doubt effective in discouraging fresh margin buying. Call money is easy in the east, but time loans are firm, and throughout the interior money markets are firm to tight. Here in Pittsburgh brokers have been on short rations for two months. In Louisville this week it is reported that buying of tobacco was deferred on account of the stringency in the money market. In Chicago bankers were shipping currency to the west and south. Besides all this, the season was favorable. Operations in the Pittsburgh market are still largely restricted to the cash buyer, and the tone is very responsive to Wall street.

Citizens Traction stock was offered on the local board at 68. There has been no public sale of the stock for a long time. It pays 6 per cent on $50, but there are so many other good stocks on which the return is higher that there is little demand for Citizens.

The Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company has passed the quarterly dividend on the common stock. A financial arrangement has been made whereby the company can provide itself with sufficient additional cash capital to carry its business over the fall months.

People who are in position to get inside information talk bullish on Manufacturers Light and Heat, but profit-taking seems to be in favor on any moderate rallies.

There is said to be a small short interest in Pittsburgh Coal common, and the general run of traders have been skeptical of the recent advance, but the buying is said to have been of the best character.

A dispatch was received by J. J. Jeffries, the Pittsburgh manager of the Universal Tobacco Company, yesterday, stating the court had refused the application for a receiver for the company, and that the latter would continue business as usual.

Secretary W. W. Chaslin sold 600 shares of the preferred stock of the Pittsburgh Store and Range Company at 17 and 400 shares of the common at 4, for account of whom it may concern. Hill & Co. bought both lots.

American Sewer Pipe was wanted at 21 bid.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas quoted at 70 bid, 71 asked.

On the local board a broker offered $500 for the privilege of putting 500 Pittsburgh Coal at 29 in 20 day.

Rock Island common stock cannot receive dividends until dividends have been paid on the preferred stock for one year. The first dividend on the preferred was declared in January and paid in February. The next dividend will be declared in October and paid in November. It is now necessary that a full year of unbroken wages from the date of payment of the first preferred dividend. Quarterly dividends on the preferred will be sufficient to permit the common stock to receive a dividend. That point was decided in the litigation against the United States Steel Corporation. Directors of the Rock Island are reticent.

The gross earnings of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for the second week in August were $164,356, an increase of $19,414.

The gross earnings of Wabash for the second week in August were $478,917, an increase of $46,437.

The 12 months' statement of Missouri, Kansas & Texas includes that of the surplus after charges will show 7.7 per cent on the $19,000,000 of preferred stock, as compared with 6.7 per cent last year. The directors of the company are divided on the question of whether or not the declaration of a dividend on the preferred would be a wise measure.

It is reported that the Mexican Central has passed to the control of the Rockefeller interests. Large plans are said to be under way for its development, and in connection it is reported that 30,000,000 acres of land have been secured in Mexico for development purposes, which will respond advantageously to the Mexican Central.

At the close of the market Wall street was again at sea, as witness the following wired to a local house: The Standard Oil Company can make a money panic and break the market heavily or they can make the reverse and give us a bull movement providing that conditions remain as favorable as at present. The market has shown heavy declines today and closes at the bottom prices, but we do not advise any short sales until we have a rally now.

Calumet and Hecla yesterday declared a dividend of $10 a share, payable September 24.

A New York dispatch said that Wall had sold his seat in the stock exchange.

It is estimated that in 1902 railroad stocks shrunk in market value $1,900,000,000 on a capitalization of $1,000,000,000; railroad bonds shrunk $567,450,000; industrials $157,000,000. This year stock shrunk $2,650,500,000 on a capitalization of $4,024,000,000; railroad bonds shrunk $600,450,000; industrials shrunk $402,000,000. The total shrinkage in railroad values in 1901 was $1,000,000,000, and in 1903 $3,250,000,000.

Business on the stock exchange was depressed and irregular in spite of quite toward more buoyant. The news from Turkey was looked upon as being more serious. Canada opened heavy, owing to the failure of further municipal borrowings, and also because much stock was offered for the account of bull speculators. Beyond this, however, the belief prevailed that a large amount was liquidating. Canada closed firmer. House rails were depressed in spite of fair traffic increases. Americans opened dull and mostly below parity, on Erie, and continental sales. A general recovery followed and then trading became irregular. Prices revived slightly during the last hour and closed irregular.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Business was irregular today opened heavy and business remained inactive throughout, prices closing feeble. Turks and Russians were depressed by the unfavorable complications in the Balkans. Industrials were calm. The private rate of discount was 2½ per cent.

FOUNDRY IRON MARKET QUIET

Southern Furnace Men Make Advance in Price—Bessemer Quiet, With Little Selling.

SEVERAL SMALL BILLET SALES

Moderate Interest Shown in Finished Material—July Iron and Steel Business Made Larger Showing Than Expected. Sheet Trade Active.

Producers of foundry iron report a quiet but steady market, with prices just about the same as they were a week ago for northern furnace product, with perhaps a slight recession in quotations from top notation where shading has been done. The price of $12 base for southern iron continues to hold, although one large plant in that section, operating four modern furnaces, has advanced its selling figure to $12 75. Gray forge iron is unchanged, with very little moving. The Bessemer market is quiet and but little is moving, the range of prices being nominally held as before, at $18 to $19 valley furnace, although in the absence of any large orders there is nothing to establish new values.

Billets are steady as quoted, with several small sales reported at the minimum quotation.

In finished material there is little of interest to note, producers saying that business is keeping up fairly well, and is not falling below what is to be expected during the summer season, especially with the added discouragements of financial depression and labor troubles, which have been prevalent for so long. In spite of all these drawbacks the statements show that business was ahead of any other July of former years in many lines, and August is holding its own. The heavy purchase of bars reported as made by the International Harvester Company, has not been consummated, but it is likely to be closed at any time. This concern has a new mill of its own in the west, but has not tried its capacity sufficiently to know what may be expected of it, and finds outside buying of bars necessary.

Sheet iron producers report an encouraging state of affairs, with business better than anticipated. Tin plate is in the same condition, and prices for these items remain steady as last quoted.

With a great many business men still away on vacations, some of them having gone away late on account of the cool weather in the earlier part of the summer, there is a lull in industrial circles, with everyone looking forward to the opening of fall business, when it is believed the amount of work on hand to be completed, together with the natural run of business which is regarded as certain, will make an active fall and winter, although perhaps lacking the unusual rush which prevailed a year ago.

Hardware Prices Firm.

The hardware business is moving along satisfactorily, and large quantities of goods are moving out, orders being received from customers of direct and jobbing salesmen who are now on the road visiting all points. The trade is evidently of the opinion that the fall business is going to start in good shape, and for this reason are stocking up freely. Large orders are being placed for all goods in the way of Albion gas stoves, coal hods, triple effect heaters and various other items in house furnishing lines. In addition, heavy orders are being placed for sheet iron of various kinds and for stove pipe elbows. Large quantities of nails and wire continue to move out. Builders' hardware has not stopped its free movement, showing prospects to be good for the using of this line for the near future, indicative also of the building business, and of the continued activity in the shipping facturing lines. There is a good sale for Albion tools. The trade in window glass continues favorable, and some of the wiser dealers are shipping out their stocks in good condition for prices which they feel are bound to be higher. Prices during the last week all stiffened up materially, and further strength on the part of the manufacturers is looked for later, which must affect dealers and consumers.

PIG IRON PRICES ARE AT A TEMPTING LEVEL

Activity of Market, Especially at Chicago, Is Feature of the Situation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

Undue importance has been attached to the announcement that the associated southern furnace companies have reduced the price of No. 2 foundry from $13 50 to $12 00, Birmingham. As in previous reductions in the official price, the associated furnacemen have again merely recognized the settling of the market on the part of the independent producers. For some weeks the quotations on southern foundry irons have been based on the $12 rate. The official reduction can therefore hardly be characterized as a cut. The action thus taken, however, has some significance in showing that the associated producers recognize that iron cannot be sold at more than $12 Birmingham. It remains to be seen whether the official price now named can be maintained or whether it will be further reduced. The volume of business has certainly been light of late, but some of it has been placed under the rate now named by the associated furnacemen. The Chicago market has been particularly active. It is stated that the international Harvester Company has purchased duris 100,000 tons in the past two weeks, of which 75,000 tons were northern and 25,000 tons southern, and are still in the market. Sales of malleable iron at Chicago thus far during the month are placed at 100,000 tons and basic iron is in greater demand, with negotiations pending on 75,000 to 100,000 tons. The smaller western consumers are also buying more freely. Cincinnati and St. Louis report increased business. Eastern markets are likewise fairly active, but Pittsburgh reports quiet conditions in pig iron.

The International Harvester Company has purchased 40,000 tons of soft steel bars and 15,000 tons of light sheets for delivery in 1904. The placing of this business has been deferred for a long time and its consummation now is likely to influence other buyers in the same lines.

Officials of the Steel Corporation take a hopeful view of the situation. They state that the subsidiary companies now have as large a tonnage on their books as at the corresponding time last year. The condition of the pipe, plate and wire trades is especially good. The National Tube Company was never so crowded with work as at present. The closing of some departments at the Homestead works of the Carnegie Steel Company is due to the pressing necessity for repairs, as these departments have been operated to their utmost for more than two years. The sheet trade has for some time been less active, but it is stated that more sheets mills are now idle than usual at this season in ordinary years. The structural trade is lighter than during the spring months, mainly on account of strikes in the building trades. The corporation is not negotiating for Bessemer pig iron, and no purchases will be made for some time.

Car shortage is beginning to be felt in western sections of the country, particularly in the West and Southwest, and fears are expressed that last fall's experience may be repeated to some extent.

A transaction of more than ordinary interest has occurred in Pittsburgh, the sale of about 150 tons of 50 per cent ferro silicon has been made, for delivery at an interior point, at a price somewhat under $103 per gross ton, delivered. The metal comes from continental Europe. This is the largest sale ever made of this class of material.

SECURED THE CONTROL.

Guarantee Title and Trust Company Gets Stock of Braddock Concern.

The Guarantee Title & Trust Company of this city has secured a controlling interest in the Braddock Trust Company, and after Saturday the Braddock concern will clear through the Iron City bank of Pittsburgh, which is the practical owner of the Guarantee Title & Trust Company. The Braddock Trust Company is the owner of the First National bank of Braddock. There will be no changes in the officers or directors of any of the four concerns interested, but the result of the deal will be that closer relations will be established among all of them. The Braddock Trust Company's capital is $125,000; surplus, $125,000; deposits, $225,000. The First National bank has a capital of $100,000; surplus, $80,000; deposits, $700,000. The par value of the Braddock Trust Company stock is $100 a share, but the book value is about $270 a share.

J. R. Paul, president of the Iron City National bank, vice president of the Guarantee Title & Trust Company, and president of the Homewood Peoples Bank, engineered the deal.

The officers and directors of the First National bank of Braddock are: James Russell, president; George C. Watt, cashier; J. A. Russell, E. R. Dowler, George Nash, J. A. Suter, P. G. WARM WEATHER SENDS TOMATO PRICES DOWN

Crab Apples Lower and California Pears Higher—Decline in Poultry Market.

Warm weather has made quite a change in the prospects for the tomato crop, and prices have been correspondingly low for the effect of higher temperature. Receipts are much more plentiful, and dealers have put quotations down to a much lower point than occupied for some time. Lima beans are also lower, under the influence of increased receipts. Aside from these there were no changes in vegetables. In fruits, crab apples declined to a lower range, while California pears are scarce and higher.

There was a decline in the poultry market yesterday, liberal arrivals of spring chickens causing the market to weaken and so much lower. Eggs are steady, but no higher, and butter and cheese are just about holding their own.

While flour is very firm and some local dealers have been expecting higher values, so far there is no change in prices from the advanced position reported in the early part of the week. Coffee and sugar are steady, but unchanged.

Hay, feed and all grains are firm at quotations, but there was no change in any department. Receipts were fairly large, but there is a good demand, and prices held their own.

REPORT WAS A GOOD ONE.

Financial Statement of the United States Glass Company for Year.

"One of the best financial statements in the history of the company" is the designation by President D. C. Ripley of the annual report submitted to the stockholders of the United States Glass Company yesterday. The directors will call a special meeting of the stockholders soon to ratify a resolution of the board reducing the capital stock from $6,146,1000 to $3,250,000 and thus handle $500,000 first mortgage five per cent bonds to replace the eight per cent preferred stock and its unpaid dividends. About 90 per cent of the preferred stock has already lined up for the proposition and President Ripley believes the rest will accept.

The report shows a profit of $231,271 28 for the year. The increase of sales was 30½ per cent over last year, with a small loss from bad accounts. The new tank furnace being erected at Gas City, Ind., will increase the output there 25 per cent. The London and Australian offices are now on a paying basis. The Glassport Land Company, which is backed by the United States Glass Company, sold during the year $192,779 worth of property. Property worth $610,570 is left. The improvements in Glassport will be finished this fall.

WHEAT EXPERIENCED A NERVOUS SESSION

Heavy Liquidation Forces a Big Decline, But Close Was Near Top Figure.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—There was a fairly steady opening in wheat, due to reports of continued wet weather in the Grand King-dom and September opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 73@73½c. Local longs unloaded quite freely on the day on their back pops of the early part and sold on the way up the first few days, and were considerably in the line of cash business which was done, when depression and up as 81½c, but later on the fair prospects of weather in the Northwest, together with a bearish feeling on the part of commission houses, caused a heavy liquidation and prices declined rapidly. A break of 4c on the price of cash corn, heavy receipts and prospects of increasing supplies and lower warehouse ruling to the weakness, and prices declined to September shifting to July. Opening by holders during the time only lasted a short while, when September declined to 72½c, December 73½@73¾c, May 77½@77¾c, July 78½@78¾c. Shorts were quick to cover, and prices advanced 1c to 1½c, with September selling up to 74c, December 74½@74¾c, May 78½@78¾c, July 79½@79¾c. Liquidation was heavy on the advance, and prices declined 1c to 1½c, with September selling down to 72½c, December 73½@73¾c, May 77½@77¾c, July 78½@78¾c. SUCCESS IS ONLY PROBABLE RESULT

Prof. Langley Makes Statement Anent Flying Machine Experiments.

THE PUBLIC IS MISINFORMED

Must Not Expect Flight from Test of Aerodrome Now Being Made at Widewater, W. Va. — Success Is Only Reached Through Failure.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Prof. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, whose experiments down the Potomac river with the aerodrome, or flying machine, devised by him, have attracted wide public interest, in order to correct certain public misapprehensions, today issued the following statement:

The present experiments being made in mechanical flight have been carried on partly with funds provided by the board of ordnance and fortifications, and partly from private sources and from a special endowment of the Smithsonian institution. The experiments are carried on with the approval of the board of regents of the Smithsonian institution.

The public's interest in them may lead to an unfounded expectation as to their immediate results, without an explanation which is here briefly given.

These trials, with some already conducted with steam driven flying machines, are believed to be the first in the history of invention where bodies, far heavier than the air itself, have been sustained in the air for more than a few seconds by purely mechanical means.

In my previous trials success has only been reached after initial failures, which alone have taught the way to it, and I know no reason why prospective trials should be an exception.

It is possible, rather than probable, that it may be otherwise now, but judging them from the light of past experience, it is to be regretted that the enforced publicity which has been given to these initial experiments, which are essentially experiments and nothing else, may lead to quite unfounded expectations.

It is the practice of all scientific men, indeed of all prudent men, not to make public the results of their work till these are certain. This consideration, and not any desire to withhold from the public matters in which the public is interested, has dictated the policy this far pursued here. The highest publicity consistent with the national interest (since these recent experiments have for their object the development of warfare for war purposes) will be given to this work when it reaches a stage which warrants publication.

S. P. LANGLEY.

NEXT WEEK'S PLAY BILLS

Farce-Comedy, Stirring Melodrama and Attractive Vaudeville Are Offered.

At the Duquesne garden next week the summer stock opera company will be heard in Auber's greatest comic opera, "Fra Diavolo," when Miss Mary Carrington, the prima donna; William Rogers, the new tenor, Jack Raffael, John J. Martin, William Corliss, Josephine Bartlett and Pin Reynolds will be cast to advantage.

Farce-comedies are seldom staged with any attention to scenic details. An exception is, however, observed in the new three-act piece, "The Irish Pawnbrokers," which will be on the boards at the Empire theater next week. The comedy is one composed of headliners and stars of comic works, including those funny Irish comedians, McCabe and Mack, and Mazie Trumbull, who has achieved considerable fame. And there are others in the company who are winning prizes and laurels in this pace-making farce-comedy.

Beginning next Monday afternoon "The Child Slaves of New York" a melodrama in a prologue and four acts, by Charles E. Blaney and Howard Hall, will receive its initial presentation in Pittsburgh at the Bijou theater. The story of the play tells a simple truth, and shows that child slavery is based upon facts. The company carries with it "The Child Slaves' Octet" and "The Child Slaves' Band." The production is one of complete scenic splendor, two carloads of special scenery being used in the production.

The management of the Academy have booked the Big Tiger Tillie Company for their attraction next week. A gorgeously staged, two-act musical comedy, a superb vaudeville olio, headed by Howe, Berry and Walters, and a bevy of young women will contribute to the entertainment offered.

Next Sunday Calhoun park will have the big "Rough Rider" band from Blaney's "Across the Pacific," which made a hit here. Rosemont park will have the Rocereto band, and a number of special features will be added. All of next week Calhoun will have a vaudeville bill and Rosemont will have band concerts and vaudeville.

The Sunday concerts at Oakwood park will be given by the Iron Brigade band, directed by Lieut. P. Dannhardt. Southern park will have Goenther's Greater Pittsburg band. There will be a good vaudeville bill at Southern park all of next week.

HOLY ROLLS OF THORA RETURNED TO THE JEWS

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—(Special Cable.)—A dispatch from Klahinoff states that the holy rolls of Thora which were stolen from the synagogue during the massacres and thrown in the gutter and afterward picked up by the authorities, have been given back to the chief rabbi and were buried today in the Jewish cemetery with elaborate ceremonies. All the members of the synagogues and many prominent Jews from other parts of the country to the number of more than 20,000 were present. Military guards and the whole police force of the city protected the Jews from any renewed outbreak.

F. Tesson of St. Louis. Two other papers which were on the program went over to another session. St. Louis was selected as the place of meeting in 1904.

BRYAN PAYS TRIBUTE TO A FALLEN FRIEND

Sage of Nebraska Moralizes on Uncertainties of Life Over Grave of Comrade.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Aug. 19.—William Jennings Bryan delivered the eulogy at the grave of Philip Sherman Bennett this afternoon, in Fair Haven Union cemetery, paying a tribute to a personal and political friend. Mr. Bryan spoke with much feeling, saying in part:

"If the sunshine which a baby brings into a home, even if its sojourn is brief, cannot be dimmed by its death; if a child growing to manhood or womanhood gives to the parent a development of heart and head that outweighs any grief that its demise can cause, how much more does a long life, full of kindly deeds, leave us indebted to the Father who both gives and takes away. We think it wonderful that we can by means of the telephone or the telegraph talk to those who are many miles away, but the achievements of the heart are even more wonderful, for the heart that gives inspiration to another's heart, influences all the generations yet to come. What finite mind, then, can measure the influence of a life that touched so many lives as did our friend? To the young, death is an appalling thing, but it ought not to be to those whose advancing years warn them of its certain approach. As we travel along life's roads we must pause again and again to bid farewell to some fellow traveler. But one cause of sorrow is when the father and the mother dies, then brothers and sisters follow, and finally the children and the children's children cross to the unknown world beyond, until the king of terrors loses his power to affright us, and the increasing company on the farther shore makes us first willing, and then anxious, to join them. It is God's way."

Mr. Bennett was killed in an accident 10 days ago on Thunder mountain, in Idaho.

POLICEMEN ORGANIZED.

Benevolent and Protective Society Was Formed—Bonds Are to Be Renewed.

The Police Benevolent and Protective Society of Pittsburgh was formally organized in Superintendent McTighe's office yesterday morning by electing Richard Kelly temporary chairman; Charles McAfee, of No. 7, secretary, and Stephen Carr, of No. 6, Charles McAfee, of No. 7, and Stephen Conley of No. 5, a committee on rules. After the election the meeting adjourned for one week.

The matter of renewing the bonds of policemen, which had been overlooked for the last three or four months, will be taken up upon the return of Director Moore. The required bond ranges from $500 for patrolmen up, in proportion to official standing. The bond is required to protect the city from damage sustained by neglect of duty on the part of the officers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—John Alexander Dowie has told his congregation and published in the current issue of Leaves of Healing, that it is his ambition and determination to have the finest mansion for a preacher in the world. He says not less than 320 acres of ground will do for environment, and that he wants a dining room with a capacity for 1,000 guests, so that he may entertain in proper form his surpliced choir and other guests occasionally. Mr. Dowie frankly declares he has earned these things by hard work for his church.

CHAUTAUQUA WORK NOW IN EVIDENCE

United States Commissioner of Education Harris Speaks to the Assembly.

ATTITUDE OF THE NATION

Highest Ideal of Civilization Is in Elevating the Lower Classes—Union of Church and School in a Legitimate Manner.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—This is Chautauqua's greatest day, Recognition day. The quarter century class of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific circle passed through the golden gate and under the arches dedicated to history, literature, science and faith and received recognition for the completion of the four years' course of home reading.

In every detail the exercises of the day were carried out as befitted the traditions of the occasion. It was a characteristic Chautauqua day. The orator was the Hon. William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education. Mr. Harris in his address on university and school extension, as supplemented by the church, had nothing but praise for the Chautauqua cirdle. He gave all honor to Bishop Vincent. He said:

"We trace this beneficial work organized by the far-seeing and zealous soul of Dr. Vincent in movements ever widening from this Chautauqua center to the ends of this land. It is part of the missionary movement that began with Christianity and moves onward with Christian civilization."

In speaking of the relation of Christianity to education, the lecturer continued: "Christianity made science possible, for it dispossessed nature of its demons and evil spirits and brought about the study of nature as an impersonal object. As to the newspaper, there is doubtless much of evil in it, but there is more that is good. The nation that gives schools to the humblest classes of its people, or the nation which allows its humblest people to govern themselves under just laws, is a higher nation than the one which separates the ruling class into a government apart from and above the mass of the people. The highest ideal of civilization is in elevating the lower classes. It is a cause of rejoicing that with the increase of wealth production in the United States, there is an immediate application of the wealth to get more schooling for the people. It means the uniting of the schools and the church in a legitimate manner, not the splitting up of common schools into parochial schools, but the conduct of voluntary reading in clubs under the patronage of the church in its denominational entirety."

CONVENTION CALL ISSUED.

Pennsylvania Democrats to Assemble at Harrisburg on September 2.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—The formal call for the Democratic state convention to be held in this city September 2, was issued by Chairman Hall today from state headquarters. The convention will convene in the Board of Trade rooms at noon for the nomination of candidates for auditor general, state treasurer and two superior court judges, and "to transact such other business as may properly come before it."

The Democrats have heretofore held their state convention at the opera house, but the management recently raised the rent from $75 to $150. Chairman Hall declined to stand for this increase and rented the Board of Trade building, which will seat comfortably 1,200 persons.

CHILDREN ARE MARTYRS TO MONARCHICAL FRENZY

Kaiser Causes Arrest of College Girls Because They Favor Their Country's Cause.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—The anti-German feeling in the Polish provinces of Prussia is increasing and all the severity of the government seems to have only the effect of pouring oil on the flames. Warning voices have been heard in Berlin advising the government not to go to extremes. In spite of this the government continues its course and is now being severely criticised for the latest arrest for high treason of 50 young Polish girls. Without a single exception these girls are aged from 14 to 20 years, and with three exceptions they are all pupils of a fashionable school at Cuesen, near Bomberg. The three exceptions are teachers in the same school.

No greater crimes have been charged against these dangerous traitoresses than that they have studied Polish literature and history with more enthusiasm than the authorities like, but nevertheless they will have to stand trial. This arrest has, however, proved too much even for the most rabid nationalists of Berlin and protests are raised everywhere. The press claims that the kaiser and his government are making Germany appear in a ridiculous light in the eyes of all the world. No punishment can under any circumstance be given to these childfrom who will only be rewarded by being considered martyrs by their countrymen.

REQUISITION NOT HONORED.

Gov. Pennypacker Refused to Accept the Papers in the Sydney Smith Case.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—Gov. Pennypacker today declined to honor the requisition of Gov. Yates of Illinois for the return to that state of Robert Sydney Smith, the cartoonist and newspaper writer, under arrest in Pittsburgh for kidnaping his own child, whose custody had been given to his parents. The governor did not file any reason for not honoring the extradition papers, there being no precedent for such a course. It is understood, however, that the requisition was returned to Gov. Yates because Smith had not been indicted. The cover with profuse apologies and the papers again returned to Gov. Pennypacker.
